Draft-Agers Swarm on Recruiting Stations

LATE NEWS

U. S. Lengthens Wiesbaden Air Base

BERLIN, July 21—(AP)—The U. S. Airforce disclosed today that its base at Wiesbaden was being lengthened to handle "newer type planes with hotter take-off and landing speeds."

The announcement did not identify these planes, but jets might be meant. American jet planes now arriving in Europe will operate out of Germany at various times.

The runway is being lengthened from 5,500 to 7,000 feet. The work will be finished in a day or so.

Death Ruled for Two Ex-Nazi Wardens

HAMBURG, Germany, July 21—(UP)—Two of six former women wardens at the infamous Ravensbrueck Concentration Camp were sentenced to death today by an Allied Court for sending thousands of Allied and German women internees to their death in camp gas chambers.

Three other wardens received terms of from three to 12 years' imprisonment for mistreating prisoners, while a sixth defendant, Christina Holzhoefer, was acquitted.

London Woman, Tired of Curbs, Kicks Lady Cop

LONDON, July 21—(UP)—Rosalie Mary Evans, 40, a stenographer, explained in court today why she punched and kicked a policewoman who asked for her identity card.

She was so tired of restrictions in postwar England, she said, that she finally blew up.

Policewoman Catherine Arnold said she understood. She was willing to forgive and forget the kicking and beating, Miss Arnold said.

However, she demanded—and received—$20 for a pair of new stockings ruined in the tussle.

'I'm Nuts'; He's Gone; Police Puzzled

EUREKA SPRINGS, Ark., July 21—(AP)—Disappearance of a young window decorator who left a note saying he was "nuts" has North Arkansas police puzzled.

Sheriff Ami Howerton identified the man as B. (Judge) Brady, about 26, and said he has been missing since last Wednesday night.

The Sheriff said a note found in Brady's hotel room here said: "This is it. I am nuts."

The note was signed "B. B." and Howerton said acquaintances of Brady said it was in his handwriting.

Sheriff Howerton said he believed the man was from Louisiana, but that no clues as to his whereabouts had been found.

Brady had been arranging a window display at a Eureka Springs drug store, but had not completed the job.

Un-chased Chase Hollers

The mysterious Homer B. Chase listed as "State organizer of the Communist Party of Georgia" mailed stories to newspapers yesterday stating that a "State convention of Communists" has elected him as "State chairman."

Speaking as "State chairman" and the only person publicly identified with Communism in Georgia, Chase denounced the indictment of leaders of the American Communist Party in New York. He called upon the people of Georgia to demand that Atty. Gen. Tom Clark and President Truman free the Communist leaders. Chase contended that "no country has ever maintained democracy when Communists were jailed."

The "State committee" attacked Gubernatorial Candidates Joe Rabun, M. E. Thompson, and Herman Talmadge. Chase said delegates would go to the national convention in New York Aug. 2.

Parley On Berlin Set Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Emphasizing the seriousness of the threat of war in Europe, Gen. Clay, U. S. Commander in Germany, arrived in Washington last night for urgent talks on the Berlin crisis.

He will confer today with Secretary of State Marshall on ways of carrying out the American Government's intention to stay in Berlin despite the Russian drive to force the Western Powers out.

Clay's plane from Germany was met at the National Airport by Secretary of the Army Royall and Gen. Bradley, Army Chief of Staff. Assistant Secretary of State Charles G. Salzman also was there.

Marshall declared yesterday the United States will commit no belligerent act to break the Soviet blockade of Berlin, But he reaffirmed that "we will not be coerced or intimidated" into getting out of the conquered city.

Sixteen F-80 fighter planes landed in England yesterday after the first jet-propelled crossing of the Atlantic from this country.

And American B-29 Superfortresses roared over Helgoland, off Germany's northwest coast in what was described as a bombing-training mission.

Clay told newsmen only that he was returning at Royall's request "to report to the Department of the Army on the German situation." He indicated that his stay here would be brief.

Rep. Chiperfield, Republican, Illinois, said the House Foreign Affairs Committee hopes to get a first-hand report from the General on Friday.

Clay was accompanied by Robert Murphy, his chief political adviser, and by Brig. Gen. J. F. McBlain, Air Force staff officer in Berlin.

His talks with Marshall and others undoubtedly will review proposals for action by the Western nations to overcome the Soviet blockade of the German capital. Many of these suggestions have originated in Germany. These proposals, which include the dispatch of armored food trains or truck convoys to Berlin, have not been linked directly to Clay.

It is known, however, that high officials here recently have become concerned about the "sounding off"—as they call it—in Germany. It seemed likely that Clay would be urged to co-ordinate his information controls in Germany more carefully at the same time that the nonbelligerent nature of American policy is stressed.

Prison Chief, Wife, Daughter Slain

MANSFIELD, Ohio, July 21—(UP)—Ex-convicts seeking vengeance kidnaped the head of the State Reformatory Farm, his wife and their 22-year-old daughter from their home early today and killed all three in a cornfield seven miles away.

The naked bodies of John Niebel, 50; Mrs. Niebel, 50, and Phyllis, 22, were found shortly after 3 p. m., some 13 hours after they were routed from their beds by two or more men. The parents had been riddled with bullets and their daughter had been slain by by many blows on the head.

JOHN NIEBEL

MRS. NIEBEL

PHYLLIS NIEBEL

Because Niebel was known to prisoners as a strict disciplinarian who brooked not the slightest deviation from prison rules, authorities were convinced former inmates were the killers and vengeance was their motive. A check of all recently discharged prisoners was under way. The 2,100 convicts in the reformatory were cleared by having been all locked in their cells at the time the Niebels were kidnaped.

The savagery of the crime was seen in the mute evidence found in the home, on the outskirts of Mansfield and near the reformatory and its adjoining farm, and in the field.

The bodies were found by Robert Zoeller, 18, counselor at a nearby Lutheran children's Summer camp who was out hiking with 65 of his charges.

The Niebels evidently had been taken from their home in their night clothing and forced to strip in the kidnapers' car — the prints of naked feet were found on the edge of the field, near auto tire marks, but there was no trace of clothing. They apparently were led into the field where the parents were cut down by fusillades of bullets, and the daughter was

Peacetime Call Looms Oct. 1

Army, Navy and Marine Corps recruiting stations here and throughout the Nation were crowded in a manner reminiscent of wartime yesterday, although Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey indicated at Washington that the Armed Forces may not call peacetime draftees into service until around Oct. 1.

Draft registration of men 19 through 25 years of age is scheduled to take place between Aug. 30 and Sept. 18, and the law provides that no one can be inducted before Sept. 22. The draftees will serve for two years.

Hershey, National Selective Service Director, did not give the exact date he expects the first draftees to be called, but said at a news conference Oct. 1 sounded like a conservative date.

Meanwhile, recruiting stations across the Nation were flooded with 18-year-olds who have been offered a chance to volunteer for a special one-year hitch and thus avoid a two-year draft later.

Only 161,000 youths may enlist in this program, however, with the Army permitted to accept 110,000; the Navy 30,000; Marines 6,000 and the Air Force 15,000. Hence the rush of applicants, with long lines of youths forming at recruiting stations in New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Washington and other cities.

The youths accepted for this one-year service must spend six years in an organized reserve unit after completing their 12-month active duty hitch.

In addition to the program of regular Army enlistments offered to men from 17 through 34 years of age for two to six-year periods, the Army is also offering a 21-month enlistment for men from 19 to 26, who want to escape the draft. They must serve for five years thereafter as reservists, however.

Scores of applicants for enlistment were being processed at the Army recruiting station in the New Post Office Building here yesterday, but they were youths of all ages.

The Third Army's quota under this program for the first 40 days of recruiting is 2,200 for the Southeastern States, with the Atlanta District quota, including Georgia and Florida, set at 678 for both Army and Air Force.

On the first day the Navy recruiting substation her filled its first month's quota of 15 enlistments of 18-year-olds, and had 100 applicants.

The Marine Corps' quota was seven, but several Georgia youths volunteered. They were headed by Stephen Cruse, of Stone Mountain, who got in under the wire just ahead of his nineteenth birthday.

Dixiecrats To Meet Here On Saturday

JACKSON, Miss., July 21—(AP) States' Rights Democratic leaders will meet in Atlanta, Ga., next Saturday to plan their campaign of opposition to President Truman and his Civil Rights Program.

Mississippi Gov. Fielding L. Wright, States' Righters' choice for Vice President, announced the meeting late today.

He said he, South Carolina Gov. J. Strom Thurmond, Presidential choice of the revolting Dixie Democrats, and the States' Rights Southwide Campaign Committee would attend the meeting.

Arkansas Gov. Ben Laney is Chairman of the Committee but did not attend the Birmingham, Ala., conference at which Thurmond and Wright were chosen, though he did attend several committee meetings preceding the auditorium nominating session.

Wright told a news conference he does not consider Thurmond and himself "candidates" because "we have not been nominated . . . by any political party. We were recommended to the Democratic Parties in the various States as men suitable to be President and Vice President and in accord with the principles of the States' Rights movement."

He said he did not consider the Birmingham conference last Saturday the formation of a new party.

95-Degree Heat Stays on Today

Heat-weary Atlantans are getting no promise of a let-up from the weatherman.

He says the mercury will boil up to 95 degrees today and tomorrow, repeat doses of the sizzling weather of yesterday. Clear to partly cloudy skies will prevail. There's "some chance" of thundershowers bringing slight relief this afternoo and tomorrow, but don't count on them. The weatherman said the showers' possibilities are very slim.

Georgian's Boat Sinks

NEW ORLEANS, July 21—(AP)—The Coast Guard here reported today that the tugboat Suwannee sank last night in the Mississippi sound, about 12 miles from Gulfport, Miss. The crew of eight was reported safe. The tug, out of Apalachiocola, Fla., was owned by Thurston Crawford, of Columbus, Georgia.

Jesse James' 'Business Partner' Held Here for Ware County Police

By KEELER McCARTNEY

J. W. Booth, 200-pound mechanic described by police as the "business partner" of the accused auto thief, Jesse James Roberts, was ordered held yesterday in Fulton Superior Court for Ware County officials on two counts of automobile larceny.

Judge E. E. Pomeroy ordered Booth remanded into the custody of Fulton Sheriff A. B. (Bud) Foster for delivery to Ware County officials. The hearing was on a habeas corpus petition in which bond was sought.

Booth is scheduled for trial Monday in Ware County Superior Court.

Booth had been held in city jail without bond since last Thursday when Dets. G. F. Barrett and L. H. Satterfield said he was apprehended with two autos allegedly stolen from South Georgia.

At the same time, Barrett and Saterfield revealed the elusive Jesse James had escaped two well-laid police traps in South Georgia recently.

He eluded Ware County authorities Tuesday night in Waycross after trading in a stolen Chevrolet for a Chrysler, detectives said.

Booth has admitted working with Jesse before and after his arrest in Atlanta last May, Barrett and Satterfield said. However, Booth charged Jesse James actually stole the machines and he only aided in the delivery.

While under arrest in Atlanta, detectives related, Jesse James said Booth took the automobiles and he drove them to Atlanta for resale.

Actually, Barrett and Satterfield declared "Booth and Jesse James both took the cars—one was as bad as the other."

The larceny ring folded up in May following Jesse James' arrest and his subsequent escape from City Jail, detectives continued. Activities were resumed about June 28.

Investigators have recovered 63 machines stolen before the arrest of Jesse and seven others taken since Jesse broke jail, they said, making a total of 70 cars recovered. They estimated the total stolen cars might reach 150 or 175.

When arrested here, detectives said, Booth was driving a car which had been reported stolen July 13 by Hack Hopkins in Waycross. They added they had recovered seven autos recently, two of which had been stolen in Waycross, two in Valdosta, one in Adel, one in Perry and one in Douglas.

Activities of the ring since Jesse broke jail followed exactly the pattern he had employed before being taken into custody here, Barrett and Satterfield related. The ring took only late model machines and destroyed the motor numbers so effectively that identifying the autos is extremely difficult.

Three States Battle Blaze At Blairsville

Constitution State News Service

BLAIRSVILLE, July 21—Firefighting equipment from three states battled a raging blaze here tonight which seriously injured one man and destroyed four buildings.

The fire began when an explosion of undetermined origin occurred in the Blairsville Tire Company. The flames spread rapidly to adjoining buildings and a help call to near-by cities was sounded. Equipment from Murphy, N. C., and Copperhill, Tenn., was rushed to the North Georgia town to aid local equipment in bringing the blaze under control.

Gainesville equipment also was started toward Blairsville, but it turned back when the blaze was controlled.

In addition to the tire company, the United States Post Office, Jimmy Young Furniture Store and the food store and home of Mrs. Roy Rogers were destroyed completely. The home of E. G. Wellborne was damaged badly.

The injured man, whose identity was not immediately known, was in the tire company when the explosion occurred, witnesses said.

MEETS FLAG-DRAPED COFFIN

Small-Town Doctor Comes Here For Son

By CELESTINE SIBLEY

A stooped small-town doctor with a sheaf of well-worn snapshots in his pocket and a great loneliness in his heart came to Atlanta yesterday to "take my boy back home."

It was a long, hot trip for 64-year-old Dr. M. M. Thompson, who has delivered most and attended about all of the citizens in Logan, N. M. It was a trip that has filled him with dread and with heartache since April 21, 1945.

But it brought a strange kind of peace to him.

"I don't like war," the doctor said quietly, walking along the concourse at Terminal Station beside the flag-draped casket of his son. "It's a comfort to me to have Glenn home—in his own country. It'll be a comfort to have him rest beside his mother in the little cemetery at Mount Lebanon, La."

That was all Dr. Thompson had to say about it, but Army officials at the American Graves Registration Service here were glad enough to grant his unique request that he be his son's sole escort to his final resting place.

"This is the first time a father has asked to serve as escort," Col. John H. Pruitt said.

Young Glenn Taylor Thompson was killed in a tank turret at Boll, Germany, April 21, 1945, while serving in the Tenth Armored Division of Gen. Patton's Third Army.

Dr. and Mrs. Thompson (the former Laura Taylor) were married in Louisiana and moved to New Mexico 40 years ago. "She had the bug (tuberculosis). Her mother died of it. I persuaded her to marry me and move to New Mexico—and that cured her," Dr. Thompson said.

Mrs. Thompson died in 1928 from injuries received two years previously in an automobile accident and was returned to her native Louisiana for burial.

"She's waiting for our boy," Dr. Thompson said simply. "I'll go on back home by myself. I'm going to try to give up my practice now. I haven't got much reason to stay on in New Mexico."

McGRATH'S WICKS TRIMMED

Prodigal Sons, Welcome!

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The White House put a light in the window last night for straying Democrats.

J. Howard McGrath, Chairman of the split party, announced a series of strategy conferences will be held, with President Truman taking part.

And Southerners, many of whom have refused to support Mr. Truman's candidacy, and all other elements in the party will be welcome, McGrath told reporters.

The conferences will start tomorrow. One subject to be taken up: When should the President start his cross-country stumping tour?

PAWLING, N. Y., July 21—(AP) — Republican Presidential Candidate Thomas E. Dewey was asked at a news conference today if he had any opinions on the Southern Democratic "Dixiecrat" ticket.

"Yes," he replied.

"Can we have them?" a reporter inquired.

"No," said Dewey.

McGrath said Gov. J. Strom Thurmond, of South Carolina, nominee of the Dixiecrats for President, took "a lot of sting out of the revolt."

He referred, he said, to a Thurmond statement laying main stress on the issue of "States' rights" and sidetracking the idea of "white supremacy."

McGrath said he was certain Thurmond would be welcome at the White House.

He told reporters:

"I don't want any mystery about it. There's no secret about it. I'll be bringing people in from time to time, from week to week, and even from day to day for consultations on the campaign.

"Both the President and I will be ready at all times to get the views of all members of the party who want to consult with him."

Auriol Calls Rightist As French Pilot

PARIS, July 21—(AP)—Andre Marie, a Radical Socialist, announced he has been asked to form a new French Government.

Marie, 51, was Minister of Justice in Premier Robert Schuman's cabinet which resigned Monday in defeat, opposing a $40,000,000 cut in the defense bill.

Andre Marie

Marie is a moderate conservative and his emergence marked a swing to the right. He still is suffering effects of starvation in the German Buchenwald concentration camp.

Immediately after talking with President Vincent Auriol, he went to the Ministry of Justice to consult political leaders.

He must secure a parliamentary majority to attain the office. It was Socialist defection from the coalition of Popular Republican movement, Radical Socialists (Conservatives) and Socialists which toppled the Schuman government.

FIRST SHOT---84 YEARS AGO

Atlantans To Relive City's Biggest Fight

Today Atlanta begins commemorating, mostly in heart and in mind, the biggest fight of its life.

It was the Battle of Atlanta. The first shots were fired on July 22, 84 years ago.

Sunday, in a memorial service from 5 to 7 p. m., at the Atlanta Historical Society, the battle will be relived in word and spirit The Society has invited some 700 Georgians to attend.

Two of its foremost authorities, Richard Harwell, of Emory University, and Col. Allen P. Julian, of the U. S. Army, will paint a vivid word picture of the battle, using illustrated maps in the presentations.

The Battle of Atlanta really was in four stages. The first began July 20 and took the name of the Battle of Peachtree Creek. The second, the Battle of Atlanta proper, began July 22. The third, the Battle of Ezra Church, began on July 29.

Fourth stage of the battle was the 40-day siege of the city, closely connected with the fighting around Jonesboro.

The Battle of Atlanta ended officially Sept. 2, when the last of the Confederates left the city. They gathered at Whitehall and Worthington Streets for a meeting of prayer and song and left the city singing "Lorena."

Dewey Plans 4-Agency Job For Warren

By ROBERT S. ALLEN

NEW YORK, July 21—(NANA) Gov. Dewey has a definite plan already worked out to share administrative responsibility with his running mate, Gov. Warren, if they win the coming election.

Under this plan, Gov. Warren would be given supervisory direction of the four major domestic agencies of the Federal Government. These are the Departments of Justice, Commerce, Interior and Labor.

Gov. Dewey would concentrate his primary attention on foreign and military affairs. Under his plan, the Republican presidential nominee, if elected, would devote himself chiefly to the direction of the Departments of State, Defense, Army, Navy and Air.

The two GOP leaders discussed this plan in detail during Warren's recent visit to the Dewey farm.

Warren had agreed to take second place on the Dewey ticket only after receiving categoric assurances that he would be given an active role in administrative affairs.

Dewey Invited To Visit Columbus

Constitution State News Service

COLUMBUS, July 21—A telegram signed by 50 Columbus business men was sent to Gov. Dewey today, inviting him to speak here during the campaign for President, calling his attention to the importance of Columbus industrially, of Fort Benning and saying a huge stadium would seat 20,000 if he spoke here.

The wire included the signature of Former Mayor Ed Murrah, who issued a statement after the wire was sent saying "Columbus Democrats are not bolting the party—we just don't like Truman."

Olan Slayton, local attorney, was a delegate from Georgia to the Republican Convention held in Philadelphia.

Stassen Gives Support To Dewey

PAWLING, N. Y., July 21—(UP) — Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, Republican Presidential candidate, received assurances of all-out support today from Harold E. Stassen, once his political foe.

Dewey and Stassen, who fought a months-long running battle for the nomination before the party's national convention, conferred on the front porch of Dewey's Quaker Hill farm on the issues that will be raised during the campaign. Stassen promised to throw the full weight of his popularity and of national organization behind Dewey.

While their discussion included both international and domestic issues, their immediate concern was the situation in Berlin.

"We discussed the Berlin situation at great length," Dewey told reporters. "We are both very deeply concerned over it. We have the view that it is serious and that the slightest mismanagement, in view of the extremely unsatisfactory arrangement that exists, could have serious consequences."

"It is a major concern of the Republican Party that the situation, like all difficult situations in the world, must be handled with great care and the highest degree of skill in order to find a peaceful solution."

Truman to Go Before Congress Personally

WASHINGTON, July 21—(AP)—President Truman next Tuesday will go personally before the Congress he has bitterly criticized to lay down his demands for anti-inflation and housing laws.

House and Senate will meet jointly at 11:30 a. m. to hear the President, a time set after consulting leaders in both parties.

Mr. Truman's message, covering at least nine other proposed bills, will be the signal for Republican leaders in both Houses to huddle and decide what to do about it.

Congress comes together Monday in extra session called by the President after a speech accusing the GOP-dominated body of dodging its responsibility.

Announcing the President's plans, Press Sec. Charles G. Ross defended the session call which critics have assailed as playing politics.

"He is not asking Congress to do the impossible," Ross said. He declared that most of the bills Mr. Truman wants are already pending in Congress, some already passed by one House or the other.

Ross said Mr. Truman is not asking enactment of the Republican platform. GOP leaders have said this is not the time to try to push it through.

Congress will be listening closely to the message for mention of the grave crisis in relations with Russia.

Congress will be interested keenly in the bill Mr. Truman is preparing to back up his call for laws to halt rising prices.

The Truman bill is expected to embrace to a large extent his 1947 anti-inflation recommendations. These included authority for price controls and rationing.

The administration today took one step toward lower prices—a suggestion to the baking industry that lower wheat prices should justify a cut in prices of bread and other bakery products.

Keeping Up With Atlanta

BLOOD DONORS—Twenty-five firms in the Atlanta area sent donors to the Atlanta Red Cross Blood Center during the past week. They included the Civil Aeronautics Administration, City Hall, Clark Thread Company, Courts & Company, Decatur Fire Department, Davison's, Federal Reserve Bank, First National Bank, Fort McPherson, General Electric, Georgia Military District, Georgia Tech, International Paper Company, Lipscomb-Ellis Company, Naval Air Station, Scripto, Inc., Shell Oil Company, Southern Bell, Southern Railway, St. Paul Insurance Company, State Revenue Department, State Labor Department, Veterans Administration, War Assets Administration and Western Electric Supply.

J. R. Simonton H. L. George

WIN PARACHUTE WINGS—Pfc. Harvey L. George, of 740 Boulevard, Atlanta, and Pfc. Joseph R. Simonton, of Lawrenceville, have completed the five-week Basic Airborne course at the Infantry School, Ft. Benning, and have been awarded the official U. S. Army parachute wings. Pfc. George is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. George here, and Pfc. Simonton is the husband of Mrs. Martha Simonton, of Lawrenceville.

LIONS PROGRAM—Gerald McQuaig, Director of Recreation, Georgia State Parks, will address the Atlanta Lions Club at 12:15 p. m. Friday on the subject, "Vacation in Georgia State Parks." He will show a technicolor film illustrating the various beauty spots of Georgia's park areas.

HONOR STUDENTS—Minnie "Betty" Elizabeth Ivey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Daniel Ivey, 1153 Blue Ridge Ave., N. E., was among those on the honor roll for the Spring quarter at John B. Stetson University, DeLand, Fla. Miss Ivey is a sophomore at Stetson.

ATLANTANS IN WASHINGTON—Miss Ruby Brooks and Miss Ruth Winn, of Atlanta, joined the throng of visitors in the capital this week. They liked everything in Washington "except the scorching temperatures!"

ENGINEERS MEET—The Atlanta Chapter of the Georgia Society of Professional Engineers discussed the report and recommendations of the Society's Minimum Salary Schedule Committee at a recent meeting attended by 53 members. The report divided engineers into five classifications—depending on education, experience and ability—and minimum salaries ranged from $3,000 to $6,600 a year. Harry Roberts is Chairman of the Committee.

OVERSIZED EGG—A three-year-old New Hampshire Red hen, owned by Mrs. M. H. Robinson, of Dunwoody, laid an egg this week that was "above and beyond the call of duty." Robinson said the giant egg weighed seven ounces, was nine inches in circumference and had "at least three yolks."

CALLED TO DUTY—M. Sgt. Darnell G. Craven, Army Signal Corps Reserve, of 455 Lee St., S. W., has been called to active duty for 12 months with the Army. He will report with the Army Service Unit 3442 at Ft. McPherson and will be assigned to the Ordnance Maintenance Depot.

BONDS MEETING—Joseph G. Woodruff, State Director of the U. S. Savings Bonds Division in Atlanta, is attending a conference of State Directors and national officers of the Savings Bonds Division in Washington, D. C., to map out a sales promotion program for the coming months.

U. S. Confirms B-29 Stock Off For Britain

SALINA, Kan., July 21—(AP)—Secrecy surrounding the Eastern movement of a trainload of war materiel from old Camp Phillips near here was lifted today by an Army announcement. The equipment is going to England for use by B-29s now on missions there.

Col. Leslie G. Mulzer, Commander of the 301st Very Heavy Bombardment Squadron at the nearby Smoky Hill Army Air Force Base, issued a statement, clarifying the movement of flatcars and boxcars, loaded with materiel.

A reliable source told the Associated Press yesterday that 240 flatcars and 80 boxcars were being loaded at Camp Phillips, now deactivated.

Wallace Says Arrests Attempt 'to Create Fear'

PHILADELPHIA, July 21—(AP)—Henry A. Wallace hit at arrest of American Communist leaders today while his "new party" platform framers whipped together a tentative draft calling for public ownership of larger banks, railroads and the power and gas industries.

In a statement issued through the Party's convention headquarters here, Wallace described the Communist arrests as part of the Truman administration's strategy of creating "Red scares." He said these "scares" are intended to frighten the American people into keeping the administration in power.

He declared:

"They are another in a series of diversions created for Americans who are complaining about mounting inflation, the stupid bungling in Berlin and other problems."

Wallace predicted the courts will eventually throw out the law under which a New York Federal Grand Jury indicted 12 Communists on charges of advocating the violent overthrow of the American Government.

Edgar G. Brown, identifying himself as head of the National Negro Council, told a platform drafting committee that the Southern States' Rights "Hitler Dixiecrats" Party should be outlawed and its leaders "run out of the country."

Brown said President Truman should send troops to the South to see that all Negroes are registered to vote. He said he believes if Wallace were President he would do just that.

Murray, Ford Lead in Montana

HELENA, Mont., July 21—(AP)—Democratic Sen. James E. Murray, of Butte, and Republican Gov. Sam C. Ford tonight were apparently safely over the primary election hurdle.

Murray, three-term Senator, piled 53,129 votes in 872 of the State's 1,142 precincts to 12,469 for his Democratic opponent, Dr. Harry J. McGregor, of Great Falls.

Ford, out for his third term, swamped his opponents in 914 precincts. Ford received 36,948 votes to 9,707 for Railroad Commissioner Leonard C. Young and 4,160 for Mike Kuchera, of Hardin.

beaten to death with the butts of the guns. Miss Niebel's hair was in curlers.

Coroner E. C. Lavender said they had been dead "for some time" when found. From the story of a neighbor who saw a strange car in the Niebels' driveway around 1:30 a. m. the time of the slaying was fixed at around 2 a. m.

In the Niebel home cigarette butts had been ground into carpets by the heels of the kidnapers. The house was ransacked room by room, and the emptied purses of all three victims were on the dining room table.

Young Zoeller and the Rev. Herbert Veler were leading a group of 65 children on an afternoon hike along a dirt road. Zoeller spotted the bodies from a distance, and went to investigate while Veler hurried the children away to spare them the grisly sight.

Deputy Sheriff G. C. Humphrey said Niebel had been shot "numerous times in the stomach." He couldn't understand the killers' savagery, he added, because Niebel "was a good Christian man."

Niebel failed to appear for the 6:30 a. m. change of the guard which he always attended. At 8:30 a. m., Dr. John W. Horst, the reformatory farm physician, and two other officials went to his home and found a scene of wild disorder.

Front and back doors of the Niebel residence were open. Drawers in bureaus were askew, their contents scattered.

A shotgun, a .22-caliber rifle and a .38-caliber pistol were missing, but two cars owned by the Niebels were in the garage.

Sloop Body Found?

MATHEWS, Va., July 21—(AP) The body of a man believed to be that of Lt. George Todd, whose 20-foot sloop beached near here with no one aboard, was found floating in Chesapeake Bay today.

Blonde's Tip Rips Red Spy Grip

NEW YORK, July 21—(AP)—The World-Telegram said today in a copyrighted article that a beautiful blonde's tip to the FBI on a large Russian spy ring led to the Federal Grand Jury investigation culminating in indictments of 12 top Communist officials.

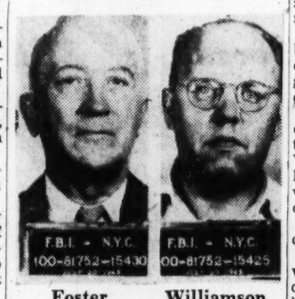
Meanwhile, four of the Communist Party heads indicted on charges of conspiracy to overthrow the U. S. Government still were sought by FBI agents.

The other eight, including Party Chairman William Z. Foster, were accounted for here and in Detroit.

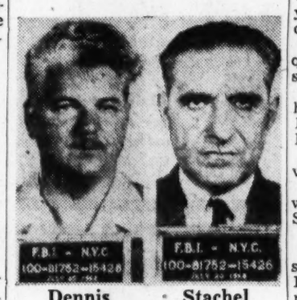
The seven men taken into custody here all were released on $5,000 bail today.

A special Federal Grand Jury indicted the 12 top members of the Communist hierarchy yesterday, charging them with a plot to topple the American Government by violence.

U. S. Atty. John F. X. McGohey, commenting on the World-Telegram story, said no woman gave testimony before the Grand Jury.



Foster Williamson



Dennis Stachel

WASHINGTON, July 21—(AP) Secretary of State Marshall threw cold water today on a story—told by members of his own Department — of Communist agents hacking away at U. S. security under a shield of United Nations immunity. Marshall told a news conference he doesn't know of a single case in which a foreigner has come to this country for the United Nations and has threatened American security in any way.

The World-Telegram reported the following:

The unnamed woman, New England-born, suffered pangs of conscience and decided she could no longer sabotage her native country. Her fantastic story, incredible to FBI agents at first, turned out to be completely true.

She told the FBI that 50 Government employees of all ranks were members of the ring. The FBI still does not have enough evidence to indict but is remaining relentlessly on the trail of ring members.

The woman, graduate of a noted women's college and an official of a purported relief organization during the war, had been a minor Communist Party member for years. Gradually she was taken into Communist confidence and in the midst of the war, when her immediate superior died, found herself in control of the spy ring.

She was given information by some 50 men and women Government employees, all Communists, ranging from clerks to one man of near cabinet authority. Nearly all, due to FBI pressure, no longer are on the Government payrolls.

Among the secrets the woman and her agents turned over to the Russians were the first plans of the B-29, still under wraps, and complete data on R-D-X, a plastic explosive.

Working for the woman was a man high in the councils of the Office of Strategic Services who would meet the woman on a Washington street corner and turn over secret information to her.

Others working for her included a personal adviser of President Roosevelt, a high Army Air Force officer, an official of the War Production Board, members of the Office of War Information and persons informed of policy from other strategic Government agencies.

None received money for their activities. Once, with FBI agents watching, she met a high official from the Soviet Embassy in Washington. She received an envelope containing several thousand dollars from him. The official came to New York to press the money on her because he believed she was weakening.

The four men still sought are Irving Potash, manager of the CIO Furriers' Joint Council in New York; Robert G. Thompson, Chairman of the New York State Communist Party; Gilbert Green, District Chairman for the Communist Party at Chicago, and Gus Hall, of Cleveland, Chairman of the Ohio Communist Party.

Benjamin Davis

The seven freed on bail here were Foster, Eugene V. Dennis, General Secretary of the Party; John B. Williamson, Trade Union Secretary for the Party; Henry Winston, Party Organizational Secretary; Benjamin Davis, Negro, former Atlanta lawyer and now New York City Councilman; Jacob Stachel, Educational Secretary for the Party, and John Gates, Editor of the Daily Worker, Party newspaper.

All but Gates were arrested last night and allowed by Federal Judge Vincent L. Leibell to go free overnight on a promise to return this morning to arrange bail. Gates surrendered today.

Attorney Attacks Right of State To Death Penalty

The State's moral right to exact the death penalty was questioned yesterday in an appeal to the State Pardon and Parole Board to commute the death sentences of Charlie Garrett and Jewell Eller.

"The State has the legal right to take life," J. C. Collins, lawyer for the defendants, argued. "But the Bible tells us 'Thou Shalt not kill.'"

Garrett and Eller, two war veterans in their twenties, were sentenced to die in the electric chair for the ax murder of Milt Maney, aged Towns County storekeeper, on Aug. 27, 1947.

"The State Legislature cannot give life," Collins continued. "Does it have the right to take away what it cannot give?"

Sol. Gen. John E. Franklin pointed out that Garrett and Eller had confessed to planning the murder and robbery of Mr. Maney.

Franklin said he never had asked a jury to inflict a death penalty on anyone. He stated he was convince Eller and Garrett were guilty, however, adding that the number of murders in his circuit since the conviction of the two men had dropped to the vanishing point.

The Board took the appeal under advisement.

'WE CAN'T GO BACK'

29 Pilgrims Seek New Life In U. S.

PROVINCETOWN, Mass., July 21—(AP)—A new Pilgrim band—29 Baltic-born men, women and children — made this old colonial port today after 43 days in a small sailing craft on the Atlantic seeking "to live in freedom."

They were headed for Boston, but turned in here when they ran out of fuel for their auxiliary engine and found themselves nearly out of food.

Capt. John Rosenberg, 63-year-old master of the 64-foot ketch, told Coast Guard Chief Alfred Volton they had sailed from Dover, England, with only a wristwatch and sextant to guide them on their journey.

Their vessel, named the "Gundel," flew the Swedish flag.

The party of 15 men, seven women, seven children — seven complete families among them—had sailed to Dover from Sweden, where they had lived for four years after fleeing Latvia, now controlled by the Soviet Union.

Pooling their resources, they acquired the ketch for $12,000 and set out to seek a new homeland.

"We have no homeland, no homes. We are without a country," Rosenberg, who speaks excellent English, told Volton.

"We are not Nazis, not Bolsheviks, not spies.

"We want to live in freedom. If we can't land in the United States, we will have to try Canada.

"We can't go back."

The Coast Guard prepared to supply the travelers with charts of Boston Harbor. Provincetown is not an official port of entry.

In the group, many occupations and ages are represented. Rosenberg is the eldest of the party. Two-year-old Janis-Gricks Sudelis, born in Sweden, is the youngest.

There is a baker, a butler, a butcher, a carpenter, a farmer, a motor mechanic, a teacher, and a chauffeur.

All were happy, and despite their recent shortage of some foods, healthy appearing, Coast Guardsmen said.

At Provincetown, the "Gundel" tied up almost on the same spot that tradition assigns to the first hitching spot in America of the "Mayflower."

Emmy Goering Convicted, Freed

GARMISCH-JARTENKIRCHEN, Germany, July 21—(AP)—Emmy Goering, widow of Hitler Germany's No. 2 Nazi, was convicted today of being a Nazi, but was set free immediately.

She got a sentence of one year in a labor camp from a Garmisch Denazification Court, but was freed since she already has spent 18 months in camp awaiting trial.

The court found the former actress and widow of Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering to be a Nazi "offender."

Good News For Folks Who Suffer From ✓ STOMACH GAS
✓ SOUR FOOD TASTE
✓ ACID INDIGESTION

Do you feel bloated and miserable after every meal, taste sour, bitter food? If so, here is how you may get blessed relief from this nervous distress.

Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red-blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

Avoid punishing yourself with overdoses of soda and other alkalizers to counteract gas and bloating when what you so dearly need is SSS Tonic to help you digest food for body strength and repair. Don't wait! Join the host of happy people SSS Tonic has helped. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle of SSS Tonic from your drug store today. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

JOE RABUN CHARGES

'Liquor Dealers Got $19 Million Tax Slice'

By M. L. ST. JOHN

Liquor dealers got a $19,000,000 slice out of taxes on whiskey paid by Georgians during the 1947 fiscal year, Gubernatorial Candidate Joe Rabun charged yesterday.

Speaking at LaGrange, Rabun said Georgians paid a total of $50,283,000 in liquor taxes. The Federal Government got $17,600,000, the State $13,648,000, and liquor dealers (adding the tax to illegal sales and then pocketing it) got $19,000,000, he claimed. Rabun asked: "Is it any wonder professional politicans are so keenly interested in the legitimate liquor business as well as the illegal liquor traffic in dry counties?"

Meanwhile the Paramount Distillers, Inc., of Albany—which Rabun has insisted should pay $16,000 in taxes—said yesterday if the State's 15 cents a wine-gallon tax is imposed on bulk liquors manufactured it will have to go out of the bulk business. State Revenue Commissioner Downing Musgrove has asked Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook to determine whether the firm is subject to taxation on this beverage.

Manager Bob Froklis said the tax, if levied, would place this firm, which uses Georgia grain, in unfair competition with Kentucky, Maryland, and Indiana distilleries which do not have the bulk levy. Rabun has charged that John Horace Bowen, Atlanta liquor dealer, well known in State political circles, and some leaders of the Thompson administration have an interest in Paramount.

Gubernatorial Candidate Herman Talmadge spoke yesterday at Gratis, in Walton County. He charged that Acting Gov. Thompson fired 25 World War II veterans from the State Patrol "without cause and for political reasons." Talmadge promised, if elected, to establish a "sound program for the Highway Patrol, where security of a job will be protected and those who are doing good work cannot be discharged at the whims or caprices of any Governor."

TEXANS ON POLIO

Sulfa-Type Drug 'Doing Some Good'

HOUSTON, Texas, July 21—(AP)—Doctors at the City-County Jefferson Davis Hospital today confirmed reports that polio patients treated with thiazolyl, a new sulfa-type drug, are up and walking around.

They also said the acute illness period of patients treated with the drug is being cut as much as one-quarter of the usual five to eight-day period.

The doctors, who declined to be quoted by name, warned, however, against over-optimism.

"We feel that the drug is doing some good," one of them said, "but we just want to be sure before we make any claims."

Use of the drug here and at the John Sealy Hospital at the University of Texas School of Medicine at Galveston was disclosed last Saturday.

Jefferson Davis officials said "more than 40" patients have been treated locally with thiazolyl—also known as "Drug No. 2"—and another new drug, aureomycin.

3,603 Polio Cases Thus Far in '48

WASHINGTON, July 21—(AP)—The nation's total of infantile paralysis cases has mounted to 3,603 so far this year, the Public Health Service reported today. This is 1,011 more than for the same period in 1946, second worst polio year on record.

The service said the majority of cases still are being reported from three States—North Carolina, California and Texas.

Polio Ban

AUGUSTA, July 21—(AP)—Richmond County's Health Department today ordered isolation of all children returning from polio epidemic areas in North Carolina. Dr. Victor Roule, Chairman of the County Board of Health, said children should be confined for 14 days after returning from sections where the poliomyelitis epidemic has broken out.

Savannah Welcome

SAVANNAH, July 21—(AP)—Tourists arriving in Savannah will get a royal welcome after 10 o'clock Monday morning. A "Tourist Welcome" station will be opened on the outskirts of the City by the State Agricultural and Industrial Development Board, the State Safety Department and the Highway 17 Association on that day, it was announced today.

Bernadotte Briefs UN Truce Teams

RHODES, July 21 — (UP)—Count Folke Bernadotte, briefing American and Belgian observer teams, asserted today that the Palestine truce "will and must" be enforced until peace is assured.

Bernadotte, United Nations mediator in Palestine, said his first objective is to demilitarize Jerusalem.

Officers briefed today—19 Americans and 25 Belgians, most of them airmen—were ordered to proceed to posts throughout the Holy Land tomorrow.

6 Die In Crash

LONDON, July 21—(AP)—The British air ministry said tonight a Dutch naval plane had crashed in Scotland and that all six persons aboard were killed.

EMBARRASSING SUBJECT

Milk Board Sets Meet To Settle Rules Mixup

Georgia's Milk Control Board will hold a special session at 10:30 a. m. today to square itself away on an embarrassing subject—rules.

The Board's last meeting broke up in confusion when the Board was forced into admitting, by a 5 to 0 vote, that it didn't know it had rules for holding a hearing on price violations.

Since then, Director S. C. Cole has done some research. Cole discovered in the back of the 1941 minute book that the rules for holding a hearing adopted two years earlier and believed still in effect had been rescinded and never had been replaced.

"The Board will be asked to adopt a more orderly and speedier form for holding its hearings," Cole said. Cole and Board Attorney Wilbur Nall will request rules similar to those used in Superior Court trials, Cole said.

8 Die in Crash Of French Plane

TOULON, France, July 21—(UP)—Eight Army men were killed today when a French Army Wellington bomber crashed in the sea 75 miles off the Mediterranean coast on a flight from Africa. Navy seaplanes rescued the remaining five men on the plane.

WHIRL OF NEWS—Policeman Toby Krejcirik, of Lansford, Pa., parked his car on a side street and went on foot to patrol his district. When he returned the paint on his 900-mile-old car was peeling away. A lye solution had been applied. . . . A murderer, Charles Brewster, 62, of Logan, W. Va., offered Atty. Coleman A. Hatfield, who is losing his sight, one of his eyes. Brewster is under a life sentence and said he would need only one where he was going. . . . A woman's sobs, muffled in despair a generation ago, today were hushed in hope when hospital attendants told Mrs. Helen Kaliszewski her rookie policeman son, Casmir, Jr., 22, shot down by a gunman, had a chance to live. In 1925, Mrs. Kaliszewski kissed her rookie policeman husband goodbye as he died in her arms in the same hospital in Detroit. . . . The hosts of Beacon Hill, in Boston, heralded a new victory today with extra cups of very hot tea. They had barred another attempt to invade their solitude. This time by a music school seeking to locate in their domain. Previously they had successfully resisted attempts to replace their old red brick sidewalks with un-mellowed cement. . . . The Chicago neighbors of Steve Savage, 58, just couldn't "bear" it any longer they said in filing a protest to his close association with his wrestling partner, Bruno, a real, live bear. Savage, a tavern-keeper, and Bruno entertained patrons and children of the neighborhood with wrestling and acrobatics until the neighbors complained and Savage and Bruno were served a court summons.

Columbus Gives Party for Johnny

Constitution State News Service.

COLUMBUS, July 21—Johnny Joe Coleman is going to get the blue four-car electric train he wanted for his birthday.

The whole town was determined that Johnny should have the best on his fourth birthday tomorrow, because the doctors have said it will be his last.

Johnny—the son of Sgt. and Mrs. John Coleman, who live in suburban Columbus, has leukemia.

A tumor has caused him to lose the sight of his left eye. The doctors, according to Johnny's family, say the failing right eye will be lost in a matter of days.

That's why everybody—Columbus merchants, friends of the Colemans and new friends who have just heard about Johnny—will be gathering in the NCCS Auditorium at 2 p. m. tomorrow to give him a huge party.

Johnny already can tell you he's going to get "the biggest old cake" you ever saw.

Every child in Columbus between the ages of three and seven has been invited.

The Columbus AFL Musicians' Union will furnish the music.

The cake will be provided by the soldier-bakers from the Army Food Service School at nearby Fort Benning.

Giant rabbits and an elf will be provided for decorations. There will be a shiny paper crown for Johnny to wear as "King" of his own birthday.

Czech-German Pact

Tobacco Time in Georgia

This is a great day in South Georgia.

In warehouses in 18 towns the golden leaf which annually pours from $40,000,000 to $50,000,000 in new money into the State's trade channels is ready for auction.

The flue-cured tobacco market opens today.

It means hectic but happy days in Adel, Baxley, Blackshear, Claxton, Douglas, Fitzgerald, Hahira, Hazlehurst, Metter, Moultrie, Nashville, Pelham, Quitman, Statesboro, Tifton, Valdosta, Vidalia and Waycross. It means a new influx of customers and of cash, a holiday air and a carnival atmosphere. It means long lines of wagons and trucks, drawn up outside the warehouses. It means whole families waiting in the shade of the pay-house while the check is made and cashed. It means grimy-footed boys hawking boiled-pinders and soda water. It means the annual brief appearance of the glamorous gentry of the mysterious chant, the auctioneers who speak knowingly of lemon and lugs and F. E. Boone. And it means, over all, the sweet pungent smell of new-cured leaf, the product of plowing and preparation and prayer.

Tobacco is big business in Georgia, even though the State is still treated as a step-child by those who control the market. Last year's crop was a $53,000,000 one. This year, despite the fact that acreage and production are down, should bring almost as large a gross return, even though the floor has been set at only 39.9 cents a pound, four cents a pound lower than the favored belts where tobacco is tied.

But apart from its financial impact on the economy of the entire State, tobacco marketing time is a wonderful one in South Georgia, the nearest thing to Mardi Gras the State has ever known.

Truman Belongs on the Ticket

We are in complete agreement with George L. Googe, one of the State's delegates to last week's Democratic National Convention, that those Georgians wishing to should be accorded an opportunity to vote for electors pledged to President Truman.

This means, in all probability, that there must be two sets of Democratic electors on the ticket in November, one pledged to President Truman and one unpledged, except to vote for some outstanding Southern Democrat.

Unless this latter means of the South expressing its independence is carried out, all the indignation of Southern delegations at Philadelphia will again have come to naught and national party leaders will become even more convinced that they can run roughshod over Southern demands.

It is our belief that Georgia party leaders acted wisely in refusing to attend the rump convention held over the weekend in Birmingham. And we are confident they will evidence the same discretion in not endeavoring to force a slate of unpledged electors on the people in November.

We have no doubt, of course, that the majority of Georgians will support such unpledged electors rather than a ticket pledged to Mr. Truman. But the fact remains that, as the choice of the national party, the President should have his name on the ticket so that those who wish may vote for him.

Conceivably, of course, the placing of two sets of Democratic electors on the general election ballot could mean that Georgia will end up in the Republican column. But that would still be a lesson to the Democratic National Party and perhaps might remind the Republicans of the opportunities they have been overlooking here.

The Berlin Impasse

There has been, since the weekend, a noticeable toning down of the reports coming from Berlin and Washington as to the methods the West may employ in dealing with the Berlin situation.

Nevertheless, no less an authority than Sec. Marshall has announced that this nation "will not be coerced or intimidated in any way" by the Russians.

"At the same time," the Secretary continued, "we will proceed to invoke every possible resource of negotiation and diplomatic procedures to reach an acceptable solution and to avoid the tragedy of war for the world.

"But I repeat again, we are not going to be coerced."

Sec. Marshall's words are underscored by the recall to Washington for consultation of Gen. Lucius Clay. The Georgia-born General will report not only to the defense chiefs and to the State Department, but to the President as well. We may thus expect future decisions on the Berlin impasse to be made on the highest levels.

Most Americans long since have been outraged at Russia's conduct and her contempt for her word and the rights of other nations. They know, too, that the Kremlin is in a corner, so to speak, and, like a hemmed-up rat, may bare her fangs and bite on suitable provocation. Though the average citizen would have been stirred by a dramatic move on the part of the Western nations, sober second thought considers the risks involved in any rash action at this time. As long as this country does its part in maintaining an honorable position, not susceptible to coercion, as Gen. Marshall so clearly stated, we all may still hope that catastrophe may be avoided.

JOSEPH AND STEWART ALSOP

Will The Berlin Situation Bring War?

WASHINGTON—"In that brown manila envelope," remarked one of the makers of American foreign policy, "I have six different plans for dealing with the Berlin crisis. And every one of them of necessity involves the risk of war." It is hard to believe that war is now a serious possibility—the mind refuses to accept it. Yet everyone in a position to know the the facts, from President Truman and Secretary of State George Marshall on down, is grimly aware that the Russian blockade of Berlin might lead to war before next Winter.

This terrible fact is underlined by the dispatch a few days ago of 60 B-29 bombers to England. This means simply that the situation is now considered so serious that the American trump must be readily available for use against the Soviet ace, and the Soviets must know that it is available.

The Soviet ace is, of course, the fact that the Red Army can, at the word of command from the Kremlin, fight to the shores of the Atlantic. The American trump (by reason of our unpreparedness a far less decisive trump than most people imagine) is the capacity to strike at the vitals of the Soviet economy with long-range bombers. By reason of its huge army, the Soviet Union is always potentially in a position to make war. And the United States, because of Berlin, is now beginning to move into a war position.

The Anglo-Americans have decided that a retreat from Berlin under the blockade threat would be wholly disastrous and would in time lead inevitably to war. Therefore, we will not leave Berlin, at least while the Soviet pistol is pointed at our heads. This in turn entails the certainty of some sort of showdown with the Russians this Summer, since the air lift operation is purely a temporary expedient.

The decision not to retreat, at least as far as the Americans and British are concerned, is wholly firm. Yet no firm decision has been taken, despite the constant humming of the wires between the three Western capitals, on the specific course of action which the Western Allies should pursue. One course, consisting of five separate steps, has, however, been seriously discussed.

Step 1. The Western reply to the Soviet note will be delivered soon after the end of the Brussels five-nation conference. It will take a firm line, but it will not close the door to further negotiation, subject only to the proviso that we cannot negotiate while the blockade is in force.

Step 2. If the blockade is not lifted, the Soviet action will be referred to the Security Council as a threat to peace. The Security Council will order the blockade lifted.

Step 3. If the Soviets veto, an emergency meeting of the General Assembly will be called. The Western Allies will place the case before the Assembly and announce their decision to supply blockaded Berlin by whatever means may be necessary. Support for this decision by the Assembly will presumably be forthcoming.

Step 4. We shall then notify the Russians that an armored train or truck convoy will depart from the Western zones at a specified date with the mission of supplying Berlin. This step has already been informally discussed between Gen. Lucius Clay and British Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, and between American Ambassador to London Lewis Douglas and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin. Contrary to reports, however, it has not been advanced as an immediate move, but only as a last resort if such preliminary moves as those outlined above fail.

Step 5. If the Russians have maintained their blockade through this whole series of steps, the convoy will be ordered to proceed on its fateful mission.

This plan is tentative, particularly points 4 and 5. No plan has as yet been finally decided upon. Something quite different may yet be evolved, especially because of French hesitations. Yet that some such plan is being seriously discussed is in itself illuminating. For there is no disguising the great risks involved. The greatest risk springs simply from the fact that the Soviets might refuse to retreat in the face of this sort of pressure, not because they want war, but simply because the loss of face would be too public and too humiliating.

RALPH McGILL

Background To Berlin Crisis

Germany is divided into four parts, cut up like an apple pie.

These parts are called zones.

The city of Berlin is entirely within the Russian zone. All roads and rail routes to it are, therefore, completely controlled by the Russians.

But the city itself also is cut up like a pie, into four pieces. They are called "sectors," as are the four parts of the country itself are called "zones." In Austria, the city of Vienna is similarly cut up.

The United States, Britain, Soviet Russia and France occupy, and administer, a zone each. In the two old capital cities each occupies a sector, but adminjstration of the cities theoretically is in the hands of a committee representing the four powers. In Berlin the Soviets have removed themselves from this committee. They also have called upon the Allied powers to depart and have blockaded the supply lines, save that of air transport, which they harass.

Now, how did it come about? We ask ourselves that today because we forget easily.

1945 In 1945 President Franklin D. Roosevelt came home from a conference with Premiers Churchill and Stalin at Yalta. He addressed the Congress. The members, Republican and Democratic, cheered him at the time. Today it is the fashion to be critical and speak of the blunders at Yalta. But then the decisions were cheered.

So, we must ask ourselves, what was the situation in February of 1945, the month of the conference?

The Western Allies, with the United States bearing the brunt, have driven the Germans out of France, and from tiny Belgium and tinier Luxembourg. The Germans still held Holland. In Italy the bitter drive by the Allies, with the Americans doing most of it, had fought and died and bled its way well into north Italy.

Soviets What of the Russians?

Starting in July of 1943, the Russians were fighting Germans who had driven 600 miles into Russia. By February of 1945, while the Western Allies were clearing the Nazis from Holland and about to invade Germany itself, the Russians had, while suffering great slaughter, nevertheless driven the Nazis out of Russia and were themselves deep within Germany. They had, indeed, crossed the Oder River and were about 37 miles from Berlin.

This great drive by the Russians had excited the admiration of the world. It had stirred us. There was at that time a great feeling of admiration for the courage and the fighting qualities of the Russian soldier.

There was also another feeling—and it is important to keep this in mind—there was the feeling that out of this great struggle by the Soviets, and out of their travail and agony in which they had lost more than 10,000,000 persons, there would emerge a nation willing to co-operate with the rest of the nations of the world in making a lasting and durable peace. So, all of us were trying to lean over backwards to encourage the Russians to see that the rest of the world did want to get along with them and understand their desires and their needs.

In this sort of atmosphere the meeting was held at Yalta.

Decision The agreements at Yalta were made in great friendliness. The zones and sectors were agreed upon. Since the Russians were within 35 miles of Berlin, it was agreed that the Russians would be allowed to take Berlin. This, too, was cheered in the United States as right and proper. And the prudent recalled, too, that it would save thousands of American lives and thousands more from being crippled for life. This it did.

There is much talk now that Gen. Patton was not allowed, when April came and he could have made the push into Berlin, to do so. This now is called a great blunder. But, was it? Had he occupied it first, we still would have gone ahead with agreements for joint occupation. We could not have broken up as allies at that point, and tried to hold all of Berlin. There was no will for it. We did not ask for a corridor into and out of Berlin because we believed we could, and would, be able to co-operate.

It is also said that Roosevelt blundered in accepting the Yalta agreements. But, in 1945, we cheered them. And we were cheering the Russians. It is so easy to second-guess and say we were tricked.

Note Secretary of State Marshall's recent note to the Russians:

"The United States Government categorically asserts that it is in occupation of its sector in Berlin with free access thereto as a matter of established right deriving from the defeat and surrender of Germany and confirmed by formal agreements among the principal allies. It further declares that it will not be induced by threats, pressures or other actions to abandon these rights. It is hoped that the Soviet Government entertains no doubts whatsoever on this point." (The italics are mine.)

At any rate, that's the background of the critical position in Berlin.

If the Soviets cut us off from air transport into Berlin we must get out or fight.

MONTGOMERY ADVERTISER

This Road Leads to Nowhere

The South will get nowhere with the Dixiecrat movement. It is the road to nowhere.

Its leadership is bankrupt.

It quite evidently does not even command a wide Southern following.

It is entirely negative in its approach. Its inflamed and uninspired leaders did little more than bellow and cry "nigger." That is far short of an answer to the South's grave problem.

The Advertiser has no doubt that the South's standing has been greatly damaged by that which boiled out of the nation's radio sets from the Birmingham cauldron.

The Advertiser believes that we are more than ever estranged from our allies, present and potential.

As a result of the Birmingham convention, Sen. Claghorn is a less fictional character to the nation than before. Like it or not, we have got to have the goodwill of the people of other regions of the United States. We will not avail ourselves of it by shouting "nigger." We cannot win friends by hoarse blasphemies and the appearance of unreasoning obstinacy.

Stupid Leadership The Birmingham convention even lacked the intelligent leadership to make it plain to the nation that we in the South mean to give the colored man his break, that we are providing him schools and health protection and encouraging his economic advancement.

Instead of this constructive and impressive approach, the Dixiecrats featured the wild and crude Horace Wilkinson with his lewd "nigger" stories.

The meeting was of a kind such as attracted the clammy and sinister presence of Gerald L. K. Smith, who mutters darkly that the Jews and Negroes are getting too much power.

By one o'clock the American Broadcasting Company had cut the convention off its network because it was too inflammatory.

Not Representative The convention was by no means representative of the South. Few states had full delegations.

Gov. Ben Laney of Arkansas was in Birmingham but held to his hotel suite and did not fully participate in the proceedings. He declined to be the nominee of the convention.

Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia, who has so often and so ably carried the fight against civil rights measures in Congressional struggles, sent word aforetime that he would not allow his name to be used.

Alabama's two senators remained away from the meeting, as did its congressmen with the exception of Birmingham's Laurie Battle.

The governors, senators and congressmen of other Southern states were not in Birmingham. They were conspicuously absent. The South's leadership was not attracted.

Roman Holiday As the Anniston Star says, it was more a "Roman Holiday" than convention.

The convention shouted "nigger" and burned President Truman in effigy. This is not the kind of thing to disarm and convince the people in other regions that the South is responsible and decent.

The leading newspapers of the South are unanimous in deploring the ugly carnival scene.

The South does not want to be judged by what went on in Birmingham. But in large and melancholy degree it will be so judged, and at a time when we need to command the maximum in good will. We will be hobbled by malice and glee over the grotesque marathon spluttering.

Gov. Laney said:

"The spirit of obstinacy and revenge is not the spirit of the Southland."

But the convention will make a lot of people think so.

Alabama's Presidential electors are pledged to withhold Alabama's votes from Truman, but they are not pledged to travel with these vengeful despoilers of our dignity and good name.

Odor in the Court

A New York judge has admitted embezzling $630,000.

I'll bet he was tough on petty thievery.

That fellow wasn't in the wrong place . . . just on the wrong side of the bench.

He lost most of the money betting on horse races. Apparently the track was the one place where the court's judgment wasn't upheld.

Horse racing has its own legal code. You can't appeal even a photo finish to a higher tribunal. Nor can you hold an also-ran in contempt of court.

Incidentally, the judge in question last year was named the nation's best-dressed jurist. Next year, one imagines, he'll go in for pen-stripes exclusively.

THE PULSE OF THE PUBLIC

The Constitution welcomes letters on either side of any subject. They should not exceed 200 words and must be signed, although names will be withheld on request. We regret none can be returned. Address all letters to Editor Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

For the Record

Editor Constitution: There are so many people writing to the Pulse of the Public who are saying that Herman Talmadge tried to take over as Governor of the State of Georgia. They talk like he just walked in the Capitol and just took charge.

Now, here are some of the facts as I remember them.

We have two bodies of distinguished gentlemen who make up our House of Representatives and State Senate, who are duly elected by the people of the different counties and districts to represent the people. This body of highly honorable men met to determine according to law who was the legal Governor of the State of Georgia. They found in the Constitution of the State of Georgia a clause stating that, in case of death on the part of the duly elected man, the next in line for the office would be the one who received the most write-in votes. Note the record and you will find that we didn't have a Lieutenant Governor at that time. Mr. M. E. Thompson had not been sworn into office at that time. They found that Herman Talmadge had received the most write-in votes, and therefore was entitled to the office.

Let us not knock Herman and misrepresent him without facts. Because most of the charges against his great father were made without facts to back them, or small mistakes stretched into mountains. No man can accomplish very much without making a mistake once in a while.

Tallapoosa. PRYOR ALLEN.

'Best Governor'

Editor Constitution: I have been reading Pulse of the Public for a long time. Almost every day there is a letter knocking Talmadge. He was the best Governor we have ever had, especially for the poor people. If the majority of the people didn't vote for him, he wouldn't have been elected. I hope Herman goes in.

Conyers. H. ROBERTSON.

Cheers for Georgia

Editor Constitution: I might say that the South has been treated unfairly by the Democratic convention in Philadelphia. I think that as far as civil rights are concerned, that it should be left up to the individual States. I listened to part of the convention over the radio and I heard the speech made by the Vice Chairman of the Georgia delegation and think that it expressed the sentiment of lots of people in the South.

Three cheers for Georgia and all the Southern States.

Dallas. A CITIZEN.

Jekyll's Worth

Editor Constitution: Jekyll Island is all and more than it has ever claimed to be. It is the most beautiful place I have ever seen. I think it is worth at least, not exaggerating, three times what was paid for it. And the State of Georgia should be proud to be the owner of such a property.

Mt. Airy. MRS. J. D. KESLER.

Yankee Admirer

Editor Constitution: As an independent Republican citizen of Philadelphia, Pa., I am writing to state that I, personally speaking, agree with the civil rights plank as submitted by the Southern representatives at the Democratic convention. I believe that the time has come when State sovereignty as defined in the Constitution must be strongly affirmed and supported, not only in the South but in every State of our Union.

I view with contempt both the planks of the Republican Party and the Democratic Party as they stand today in regard to the so-called civil rights issue. To use a slang phrase, they are the bunk—mere vote-catching contraptions—and should be publicized as such generally.

I hope that the Southern States that have courageously stood up in defiance of the majority of controlled delegates at the Democratic convention and the people of the South will stand firm and steadfast for State sovereignty now and always.

While I am firmly for Dewey and Warren, I am not presuming to attempt, however, to tell the Southern people how to vote, or what political action they should or should not take. Can only comment that after the convention's controlled and dictated decision in re the "civil rights" plank, I do hope that bearers of "olive branches" will be told what to do with same.

Philadelphia, Pa. THOS. H. GARVIN.

On the Race Question

Editor Constitution: What Lincoln had to say about the race question: "I am not, nor ever have been, in favor of bringing about, in any way, the social and political equality of the white and black races. I am not, nor ever have been in favor of making voters or jurors of the Negroes, nor of qualifying them to hold office nor to intermarry with white people. There is a physical difference between the white and black races which will forever forbid the two races living together on terms of social and political equality. Inasmuch as they cannot so live, while they do remain together there must be the position of superior and inferior; and I, as much as any other man, am in favor of having the superior position assigned to the white race."

What Thomas Jefferson had to say: "I am certain that the Negroes will be free, and I am equally certain that they can never live on the same soil on terms of political equality with the whites." READER.

Atlanta.

The South Is Out

Editor Constitution: I read Ralph McGill's article in which he stated how the South was laughed and booed out of the Democratic Party at Philadelphia—let go coldly by the big-city machines of the East and West which are now firmly in control. And probably it is better that the South should be disassociated from those who do not respect her.

The South is not 100 percent fanatical nor is the policy of States' rights designed to persecute minorities. Rather, the policy of strong Federal controls is designed to rape the majority. Here in the South we believe in policing and controlling elections in our own back yards and have not wasted a great deal of thought as to how the polyglot populations of the East and West should control their affairs. But not so with them. There is irrefutable evidence to prove that greedy, tyrannical minorities from distant States, many of whom have not been Americans very long, are seeking to break Southern traditions thorugh the Federal Government—to meddle in its elections, courts, and employment practices. And since the remnant of the Democratic Party is now a coalition of bigots and cowards who wish to achieve their ends through the despotism of a police state, it is clear that the South should not longer degrade herself by marching under that banner.

Perhaps the wiser course for the South would be to have her own political party, divorced from either the Democrats or Republicans, and as expediency dictates, throw its weight behind that party which will serve to maintain the right of each individual State to conduct elections, police itself, and practice employment as it sees fit. This privilege is the American way—otherwise the United States cannot correctly be termed a free country.

Atlanta. WILLIAM L. EMBRY.

HAROLD MARTIN

She Spoke So Softly, But---

"You need a rest," she said. "You are getting to be snappish with the children and when I speak to you you just growl. Pretty soon I will start growling back and then where will we be? In a fight. Why don't you knock off bread-winning for a week or so and come up to the mountain with us. Sleep late and go swimming and come back and eat lunch and sleep some more and then go swimming again. Just loaf in the sun and relax."

"Woman," I said, "life is real and life is earnest and lying in the sun relaxing is not its goal. But you speak with the tongues of angels, somehow. When do we start this fortnight of glorious loafing, eating and sleeping and lying in the sun?"

"Tomorrow," she said. "I've got to pick up a few things at the hardware store and I'll be ready to go when you leave the office. I'll pick you up and we will go straight from there."

I didn't pay much attention to all the gear stacked in the back of the jeep when she picked me up. There's always a lot of gear stacked in the back of the jeep. I didn't pay much attention to it until we got to the mountain and started to unload. I let the tailgate down and a shovel fell out on my foot.

"Hey," I said, "what's the idea of this thing?"

"Oh, that," she said. "That's a shovel. There are a few shrubs and bushes I want to take up and move. You'll have to have a shovel to dig the new holes. I also want a ditch dug right over there. Just a small ditch, about 20 feet long and two feet wide and two feet deep. It will drain the water away from the back porch. It's been running under and I'm afraid it is rotting the sills."

"And who," I said, "do you think is going to do all this shrub moving and ditch digging?"

"Why, you are, sweetness," she said. "It will help you to relax. There's no hurry about it, though. You can do it after you finish the painting."

"After I finish what painting?" I said.

"The house, of course," she said. "It hasn't been painted in years and over on the south side it looks a sight. I've got everything here you need. White paint for the trim. Green paint for the sides. Light yellow for the children's room. A lovely shade of blue for the bathroom, and white enamel for the porch things. But you don't have to worry about it. There's really no hurry. In fact, you shouldn't start the painting at all until you get the new screens in. It's very simple. You just take down all the old screens and rip off the wire—it won't be hard, for they are all coming apart anyway—and cut the new screens and tack them on and then paint the frames, being careful not to get any paint on the wire part."

"Anything else?" I said, trying to make it sound bitterly sarcastic. "I wouldn't want to have too much time left over for such foolishness as sleeping and eating and swimming and lying in the sun."

She pondered a minute.

"Hmmm," she said "Let me think. Oh, yes. My goodness, I almost forgot the leak in the roof. I've got everything you need. Four rolls of roofing and a big sack of roofing nails, and some tar. Look, I even bought you a new hammer." She handed me an instrument slightly smaller than an eight-pound sledge.

"Now," she said, "you are all set. You can start this afternoon. All you need is a ladder. I think you had better walk over to Mr. Bearden's and borrow one. You could take the jeep, but I just know you'd scratch it all up trying to haul the ladder."

"Look here," I said, kicking petulantly at the huge pile of hardware, paint and builders' supplies. "If you think I'm going to spend my vacation digging ditches and painting houses and putting on roofs and carrying ladders by hand a mile and a half over a mountain . . ."

"See how snappish you are getting," she said. "I told you you needed a good long rest."

FRED OTHMAN

Clifford Finally Getting His Due

WASHINGTON—I claim it's only poetic justice, the way Clark Clifford is being lambasted for the speeches delivered by his boss, Harry Truman. Clifford writes 'em, the President reads 'em, and if they sound dull, who gets blamed? The poor author, of course. 'Twas ever thus.

Special White House Counsel Clifford knows now exactly how I used to feel. A long time ago I wrote some of the most beautiful speeches ever to be mangled by a bum orator, name of Clifford. I also fixed it up for him to kiss and otherwise make love to some of the most beautiful girls in Missouri. He botched that up, too. And who caught the devil?

Othman, obviously. Everybody agreed, critic and cash customer alike, that Clifford wasn't at fault. He'd merely been caught in the toils of a fourth-rate writing job. And since history seems to be repeating itself in the White House, with Clifford taking the literary drubbing, I am one of the only two men in America who can sympathize with him now.

Back in 1925, Clifford was the handsomest undergraduate at Washington University in St. Louis. And the loudest baritone in the Glee Club. There was no argument about his being the star of the school's annual musical comedy. The only argument concerned who'd write it.

Thornton Sargeant, who's now a movie maker of prominence in Hollywood, offered to think up some funny sayings for Clifford. So, I regret to recall, did I. After months of travail at the typewriter, Sargeant and I came up with a scintillating jewel of the playwright's art. We titled it "Tame Oats." Every sentence in it was the result of hours of labor; every tender scene of romance the essence of our deepest thought.

Authors Sargent and Othman made a pudgy-looking pair, but we could dream, couldn't we? We dreamed of Actor Clifford bringing our beautiful ideas of life and of holding to his manly chest a succession of lovelies who barely condescended to say hello to us.

About the time that "Tame Oats" went into rehearsal, Coauthor Sargeant wisely decided to withdraw from school. That left me to contend with the same troubles confronting Clifford now. The dean of women kicked first. Claimed our best love scene was indecent.

But did she blame Clifford for putting too much enthusiasm into his smooching? Not that lady. She said it was plain to see that the authors had dirty minds.

So I had to rewrite the love stuff This play doctoring consisted largely of keeping a big piece of furniture at all times between our star and his lady victims. This took the zing out of the moon-and-June department. Clifford never seemed to be able to project himself across that table. His delivery was what you'd call wooden.

Like President Truman, he wasn't so hot at learning his lines, either. He stumbled at crucial moments and went "uh," while I suffered in the wings. Even as he suffers today.

"Tame Oats" opened to a packed house (consisting mostly of friends and relatives of the cast) at the Odeon, then the largest theater in town. It lasted exactly one night.

The people didn't exactly boo, but neither did they call Playwright Othman out to take a bow. Came then the reviews in the papers. These said that Clifford headed an excellent cast. Said the stage settings were superb. Added that all "Tame Oats" needed was an adequate story and some believable lines.

One of the reviews went on to say that Clifford probably could have given a better performance if he'd made up his words as he went along.

That's all, Special Counsel Clifford. Now you know, as I have known these many years, how it feels to be an unappreciated author.

THOMAS L. STOKES

Civil Rights Enactment Possible

WASHINGTON—There is a way to get a civil rights program through the special session of Congress that begins next week if Republicans meant what they said in their 1944 and 1948 platforms and if Democrats outside the South follow the mandate written in their platform this year by delegates representing their States at the recent convention.

President Truman pointed the way in his acceptance address when he suggested cloture or closure, which means the limiting of debate to break down the sure filibuster that Southern members will resort to in the Senate, as they have before. There is machinery available in Senate rules and procedure.

The Senate is always the obstacle to civil rights legislation because of unlimited debate which lends itself to filibuster. Southerners have no such weapon in the House where civil rights bills, such as those to abolish the poll tax in elections of Federal officials and to make lynching a Federal crime, have been passed repeatedly only to run up against a filibuster blockade by Southerners in the Senate.

Before going into the cloture method, it can be said first that there never has been a better opportunity than now to enact a civil rights program because of circumstances. The chief impediment, as always, is the temptation to play politics with the issue.

But there is less reason now than ever before to play politics with it. In fact, the issue has been lifted clearer of politics than at any time, what with the Democratic President, backed by his party's convention, joining hands with the Republican Party and its leadership.

The political maneuver being discussed among Republicans is to push the civil rights issue to the fore at the outset of the special session to "embarrass" President Truman by revealing, when the Southerners go on the warpath, how badly his party is split over the issue.

But everybody within reach of a newspaper or a radio knows already how badly split the party is. And, as for "embarrassing" the President, the time is long past for that. He already has burned his bridges to the South. He owes the South nothing any more after its performance of recent weeks, and by "the South" in this instance is meant the Southern leaders who tried to destroy him, not the Southern people to whose best interests he still is keenly devoted. Those leaders left him and in so doing left him free. And, after their rebellion in Philadelphia, he served notice upon them again in his acceptance speech, in their presence, that he is determined to go through with his civil rights program.

Rather than being "embarrassed," the President will welcome the initiative in Congress by Republicans on civil rights. Since that is established, it is now up to Republicans, since they control Congress, to proceed earnestly and sincerely. They have their clear platform mandates of 1944 and 1948. They, too, have burned their bridges to the South, not only by those platforms but also in the nomination of Gov. Dewey, of New York, who put through in his State the most extreme of civil rights measures, a Fair Employment Practices Commission, or FEPC. Likewise, Gov. Warren, of California, his running mate, is a forthright advocate of civil rights legislation.

All these circumstances make most propitious an effort to impose cloture, break a Southern filibuster, and get action.

In the cloture procedure it is necessary first to get the signature of 16 Senators to a petition. There is never any trouble about that. A two-thirds vote then is required to impose cloture. With everyone of the 96 Senators present and voting, that would mean 64 votes.

There are 51 Republicans in the Senate, and 19 Democrats from outside the South. That would mean 70 votes, more than enough. There are a few Senators who oppose cloture on principle. But this should raise no real handicap. Nor can anyone properly complain about insufficiency of debate on civil rights issues. They have been debated for years, in committees of Congress, on the floor, at conventions, in newspapers and over the radio, and in public forums of all sorts. They can still be debated under the cloture procedure which permits an hour to every Senator, which means 96 hours, or 12 days of eight hours.

This is the time to strike. If Republicans and Democrats outside the South mean business, they can get action now.

JOHN MARVIN RAST

Unto him that is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us.—Ephesians 3:20.

Seeing a grim reminder of the blitz days in London, a newspaper picture of rubble from war-damaged buildings collected and piled mountain high in a bombed-out site in Aldersgate Street, I could not but think of another occurrence on Aldersgate Street a bit over 200 years ago. On May 24, 1738, something happened there to John Wesley which, according to the historian Lecky, meant more to England than all her victories under Pitt. Out of a small prayer service there came to Wesley divine assurance of forgiveness and divine empowering for an evangelistic ministry which changed the world. Still civilization is a race between religion and rubble.

Eternal God, breathe upon me Thy peace. Give me the assurance of Thy acceptance, of divine enlightening and guidance.

THE QUESTION:

Do you agree with the Georgia Supreme Court in granting the telephone company an annual two-million-dollar phone rate hike?

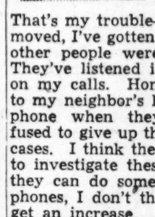
THE ANSWERS:

MRS. KATHRYN FULCHER, 96 The Prado, N. E., public stenographer—No, I do not. I certainly do not. When their dividends have increased so tremendously, I don't think they should raise the rates. The average subscriber is a salaried person, and his income hasn't increased in accordance with living expenses. I really think it would be a hardship. Why not cut, instead of raise?

A. A. WEEKS, 1819 Madrona St., N. W., jeweler—My bill is high enough now. I'm in the jewelry business. I have two business phones and one home phone. Naturally, I wouldn't be for an increase. I would be for a reduction, though. The service is good—excellent, but I'd rather not have the rates increased. If it would give phones to my friends who can't get them, I'd be fore it.

MRS. JANE RUTLEDGE, 1035 Peeples St., S. W., housewife—No, I don't think so. I think they're high enough, especially when you're on a party line and there's so much confusion. I don't know—I've always had the misfortune of getting on a party line. That's my trouble—each time I've moved, I've gotten on a line where other people weren't considerate. They've listened in and dialed in on my calls. Honestly, I've gone to my neighbor's house to use the phone when they've rudely refused to give up the line in urgent cases. I think the company ought to investigate these things. Until they can do something about the phones, I don't think they should get an increase.

BETTIE GRIFFIN, 853 Vardoda Way, N. E., waitress—No, I don't. I just don't think it's right. Even if it is the first one they've had since 1933, I don't think they should have it. I don't use the telephone at the place I board. As a matter of fact, I seldom use the telephone—I don't use it over three times a year. I usually go places that I would ordinarily phone. I don't find it necessary.



BETTY FELLOWS, 3467 Lenox Road, N. E., student—I don't think it would interest me either way. The main reason is because I don't have to pay the bill. I'm almost constantly on the telephone—sometimes I'm off. We are on a party line and when I can use the phone, I do. I think I agree with the Supreme Court in granting the phone rate hike. You caught me unawares on that point, but since you've explained it, I think they should go up. Telephoning is my favorite hobby.

MRS. H. F. WHITE, 203 Alexander St., N. W., housewife—No, not for what service we get out of the telephone company. Actually, the price is high enough now for the way things are. If people could afford to pay more, it would be different. But the way things are running, I think the telephone rates run about equal. I think the increase would make quite a difference.

JAMES B. KING, 475 West Peachtree St., N. W., bookkeeper—Yes, I think I do. Prices in general and wages—the cost of living—are going up. I think the telephone company deserves a raise. That won't affect me in any way. I don't have a telephone. For the average subscriber—he wouldn't notice that 25 or 50 cents increase a month. He's got more than that in raises.

A Political Trade With Dewey?

The big trouble with the Southern dissent from the Democratic Party's "civil rights" stand is the lack of a united front. Instead of the Solid South agreeing on a single course of action, designed to swing the entire weight of the region's political force and electoral votes in one direction, there now are three major divisions of opinion.

Probably the largest segment at the present time is comprised of those who propose to leave the Democratic Party entirely and vote the Republican ticket in the Presidential election. It may be, however, that this ardor for the Republicans will cool before election time under the campaign charges from both the other factions.

The second segment is made up of those who are in sympathy with the proposals advanced at Birmingham for a separate State Rights Party with its own candidates and its own platform. This group's only hope of achieving its end is that the November election will be so close as to enable it, by withholding the electoral votes it controls, to throw the election into the House of Representatives where it can demand a modification of the so-called civil rights planks.

THE THIRD group still commands the support of most Southern political leaders for the very simple reason that their seniority status and qualifications as Democrats would be placed in jeopardy by withdrawal from the Party. They believe the differences should be fought out within the Democratic Party itself.

The hopes of the latter two groups can be disposed of with comparative ease. The State Rights faction at present can expect the votes of only two States with a total of 20 electoral votes. Even if a whirlwind campaign should give them two or three more States it likely would not be enough because there are no indications the November election will be that close. Mr. Truman's own political ineptitude is matched only by that of his amateur advisors—the same ones who persuaded him to announce a call for a special session of Congress from a political platform in the dark hours of the early morning. Instead of improving his own position, he is more likely from now on out to improve the prospects for a one-sided Republican victory.

Not even the most optimistic would concede that there is any chance whatever of obtaining a compromise on "civil rights" within the remaining fragment of the Democratic Party. The plank was included in the platform for political purposes by the dominant groups of the East and West. They purposely and cynically alienated the support of the South. Reconciliation is a far-fetched dream.

The South thus is forced to choose between going down to defeat in an uncompromising battle for what it believes right, and of doing a bit of practical political trading with the Republicans.

THE BIG question confronting those who believe the South should vote Republican is this: Can the South bargain with Dewey?

Gov. Dewey, as all Southerners know, is the backer of FEPC legislation in New York State. But these laws are not particularly severe. And besides—and here is where the real Dewey comes in—such measures are politically profitable in New York State. They are not in the South.

Gov. Dewey is first, last and always a practical politician. If votes are to be had in exchange for soft-pedaling an antagonistic issue, then the Governor probably would be among the first to suggest a conference at the bargaining table. It is quite true that Dewey and the Republicans may not, and probably will not, need the South's votes in 1948. But Dewey is the kind of politician who already is laying plans for 1952 and perhaps for his successor in 1956. He is not likely to sneeze at the possibility of getting the 128 electoral votes of the eleven Southern States which refused to follow Truman at the convention.

Many Southerners will, so to speak, feel compelled to hold their noses to vote for Dewey. But the odor from the Truman ballot is even more obnoxious.

The final choice lies between the futility of an all-Southern ballot and the practicability of an attempt at down-to-earth political trading.

Stock Recovery Push Halts As Traders Seek Direction

NEW YORK, July 21—(AP)—The stock market carried through Tuesday's rally with only fair success today. Gains outweighed losses by a substantial majority at the finish but late dealings ate heavily into an early advance. Numerous issues crossed from the plus to the minus side, mostly in the rail and oil sections.

Price changes either way, with a few exceptions, ranged from fractions to around a point. Turnover dropped to 1,200,000 shares from 1,460,000 Tuesday.

The Tuesday rally blocked a three-day losing streak which culminated Monday with the largest overall loss since November 1946.

What seemed to be a slight improvement in the Berlin blockade situation tempted some buyers into the market but on the whole they were content to take it easy. The approaching special session of the Congress, the boost in steel prices announced by U. S. Steel Corporation, and finally the heat and humidity combined to hamper operations.

The market produced a few high flyers, including Superior Oil of California, up 5½ at 210, and Wheeling & Lake Erie Railway, 7 higher at 115.

Curtiss-Wright, reaching a new 1948 peak during the day, ended ¼ ahead at 12½. This issue staged a little bull market of its own during the Thursday to Monday crack in prices, helped along by two $1 dividends and more recently by news of award of an Air Force contract to an engine-building subsidiary.

Nickel Plate Railroad rose as much as 1½ but finished ½ lower at 41. The advance was associated with announcement of an extra dividend by Wheeling & Lake Erie, of which Nickel Plate owns a portion.

Selected railroad issues were fairly active in the bond market today and several moved ahead a point or two. Near the start of the final hour Central Railroad of New Jersey 4s advanced more than three points and the 5s were up better than two.

Lehigh Valley stamped 5s were among the top point gainers and Missouri Pacific 5s of 1981 were ahead a point.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced .2 of one point to 69.1. The rail component, however, declined. Of the 1,009 stocks which appeared on the tape, an even 500 advanced while 396 declined.

Higher steel prices didn't seem to carry much weight with the market. Brokers pointed out that the increase had been expected and that more concern was shown over what the price boost ultimately would be. Higher steel prices will be felt through the industrial and consumer worlds and talk was already heard downtown of the prospect of a fourth round of wage increases.

Many brokers professed to see a slight improvement in the tone of the argument between West and East over the Berlin blockade. The question of Berlin in particular and Germany generally is widely regarded as the main barrier to a Summer advance in the market. The firm stand taken by the Administration has made a favorable impression on the financial district, which has been heightened by the visit to this country of Gen. Lucius D. Clay, U. S. Military Governor in Germany, and his political adviser, Ambassador Robert D. Murphy.

The approaching special session of Congress also did its bit toward creating a mood of caution.

Digging Czech Uranium Ore

HEIDELBERG, Germany, July 21—(UP)—Gen. Antonin Hasal, ex-Military Adviser to Former President Eduard Benes, of Czechoslovakia, said today the Russians had taken complete control of a large area in that country where new veins of uranium ore have been discovered.

Hasal, who escaped to Germany June 29, said about 7,000 German war prisoners were working the mines under Russian direction in the Hachymov area of Sudeten Land.

The ore, used in the manufacture of atomic bombs, is shipped to Saxony in the Soviet Zone of Germany for processing, he said. Hasal is one of four top Czech generals to flee his country in the past month.

Tito Blasts At Reds In 7-Hour Talk

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, July 21—(UP)—Speaking for seven hours on the opening day of the fifth Yugoslav Communist Party Congress here, Marshal Tito today declared the Communist Information Bureau's charges against him were an outright call for civil war in Yugoslavia.

"This is an attack on the unity of our Party, on our peoples and a call to destructive elements to rise against us, to organize underground activity in our country—the call for civil war," Tito said.

At the same time Tito pleaded for the Soviet Union's friendship and promised the Yugoslavs were willing to work for it. In effect, he went over the head of the Cominform and took his case directly to Stalin.

Six Killed In Truck, Van Collision

FRENCHMAN'S BAYOU, Ark., July 20—(AP)—Six persons were killed here today in the collision of a transport truck and a van loaded with cotton choppers, Deputy Sheriff Dave Young said.

Nineteen others were injured. Young said that shortly after the accident, the victims were scattered about the highway "like a load of corn." He said 30 persons were in the van.

The dead—all Negro cotton workers from Memphis—have not been identified.

Young said the vanload of workers was going north on Highway 61, and the transport semi-trailer was moving south. Between them was a southbound pickup truck, he said, whose driver signaled a right turn but apparently decided not to make it. He said the transport swung around the pickup and sideswiped the van.

SCARED TO DEATH; YES, 18 TURKEYS

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., July 21—(AP)—A low-flying airplane scared 18 of his turkeys to death, Farmer David Susman told a Justice of the Peace today.

Susman charged that a plane, piloted by Charles Green, twice soared low over his turkey flock and so frightened the birds that they flew against a wire fence.

After the plane had left the area, Susman said he counted 18 dead turkeys and estimated his loss at $90.

Green paid a fine of $100 and costs on his second arrest within 10 days for "buzzing" and then promptly tore up his pilot's license.

A VET'S BRAINSTORMS

Funny or Not Funny, His Ads Sell Cars

WASHINGTON, July 21—(AP)—The car shortage is so bad that no matter what you say about automobiles in the advertisements, they sell, anyway.

And if you say it funny enough, like this, they sell twice as fast:

"Buick: 1941 4-door, never shipwrecked. Equipped with round wheels for smooth riding."

A Washington dealer (Hill and Tibbitts) has found that kidding the cars in the want ads increases sales.

William G. Hill, Jr., son of one of the owners, began writing the trick ads recently and the response is so great that readers sometimes telephone and complain when the same series of ads runs two days in a row.

Young Hill is a war veteran.

Some of his brainstorms in today's Washington papers:

"Ford: 1948 super convertible; equipped with radio, heater, and a degree from William and Mary. This car formerly owned by a Dixiecrat who got himself a new donkey."

Chevrolet: 1946 Aero sedan, radio, seat covers, fan, window squirters and the paint you love to touch; more doctors drive cars than anything else."

"LaSalle: 1936 4-door. This car named after a famous explorer, but it never got around like he did."

"Dodge: 1941 2-door; new maroon finish that has that oxydol sparkle; fluid drive, good to the last drop."

"Ford: 1948 Super Fordor; spotlight, fog lights, back-up lights, underhood light, directional lights, flashlight; former owner a lighthousekeeper. Good car for dark nights."

Sometimes, says young Hill, the ads backfire. Like today. One of yesterday's offers was a 1941 Packard that said the want ad, was equipped with "one box of Duz—Duz does you know what."

A man bought the car today, and demanded the box of Duz.

"I had to hustle over to the nearest grocery and buy a box, quick," said Hill.

Williams Reunion

DUBLIN, July 21—G. H. Williams was the oldest male member of the Williams family to attend the reunion held Sunday at Dasher's Bridge when kin gathered from as far north as New York City and as far south as Miami, Fla. A record of the family history, back to 1746, was presented by the Dublin man who was master of ceremonies. This was the twenty-fifth meeting of the families and dinner was served on the banks of the Ogeechee River.

Hereford Tour

LAFAYETTE, July 21—(AP)—The sixth annual tour of the North Georgia Hereford Breeders' Association is scheduled for Aug. 4-5. Walker County Agent J. P. Baker said cattle experts from Tennessee, Mississippi, Georgia and Alabama would hold panel discussions. The tour will visit farms in the North Georgia area.

Clark's Hill Road

AUGUSTA, July 21—(AP)—The government has awarded a contract for an access road to the Clark's Hill power house to W. T. Anderson, Inc., Thomson contractor. Grady L. Bain, resident engineer of the Clark's Hill dam project, said cost of the road would be $18,779. Work will be completed within 90 days.

Speaks at Wrens

WRENS, July 21—The Wrens Merchants' Association had as its guest speaker D. E. Abeel, Columbia, S. C., Monday night, who outlined an expansion program to promote better trading facilities in the Wrens area. The meeting was held at the Wrens Clubhouse and Abeel was introduced by Rufus Groover, President of the association.

'DAMN IT, I DON'T WANT BEEF!'

War Worries Made FDR Choosy About His Food

WASHINGTON, July 21—(AP)—Henrietta Nesbitt says she could always tell, when she was White House housekeeper for the Roosevelts, when the war was building to a new emergency.

The President would get choosy about his food. Mrs. Nesbitt says that in her 13 years in the White House it was the only way in which she saw the President show tension.

Each morning Mrs. Roosevelt would find out what her husband wanted to eat that day and phone Mrs. Nesbitt's office. Once Mrs. Nesbitt heard the President exclaim: "Damn it, I don't want beef." (It was the only time she ever heard him swear).

Then she heard Mrs. Roosevelt ask gently: "What do you want?"

"I want steak," he said.

Mrs. Nesbitt's story will be published tomorrow under the title "White House Diary" (Doubleday).

She writes that the President's favorite pie was America's favorite pie—apple. He preferred chocolate ice cream. But he also liked oddities: Wild turkey, stone crab, terrapin. He had definite ideas on their preparation. Once the cook warned: "The President likes a duck just chased through the flame."

The President's favorite cake was fruit, and Mrs. Roosevelt's was angel food. They both liked a crab meat soup the recipe for which was found among Mrs. George Washington's records. The President's breakfast tray always included a dog biscuit for Fala.

Like other American husbands, the President ate left-overs on the day after company.

Mrs. Nesbitt's first tip on the war came in 1937, although she didn't recognize it as such. The President made his first complaints about food. She learned later that he had just been briefed on Japanese espionage in the Pacific.

Mrs. Nesbitt writes that she has learned that really big people never made demands. The British King and Queen asked for nothing during their stay, but one of the Queen's maids put on a minor tantrum.

Under the Dome

By JIM FURNISS.

ALCOHOL—The State Revenue Department for the second time has written for a list of officers and for other information about the Georgia Growers' Distilling Company, of Fulton County. One of the Company's incorporators, J. F. Moessmer, of Cleveland, Ohio, is owner of 98 percent of the stock of Paramount Distillers, Inc., of Albany, a firm that has been under fire on the political front recently in the matter of collecting $16,827 which may or may not be due in taxes. Revenue Department officials say the information about Georgia Growers' Distilling Company is needed to see if the corporation is paying the proper tax. A previous request to the Company from the Revenue Department has not been answered, although the firm has paid a tax, a Revenue Department spokesman said.

INCENTIVE—The value of incentive profit-sharing plans for Georgia industries is discussed at length in the latest issue of "Industrial Newsletter," the Agricultural and Industrial Development Board's publication. Outstanding companies cited for their incentive plans are the Atlanta Metallic Casket Company, George Muse Clothing Company, Write Right Company, Montag Company and Southeastern Air Service.

AUDITS—State Auditor B. E. Thrasher, Jr., released the first four department audits for the fiscal year ending June 30. The Banking Department audit showed a surplus of $870.52, while the Court of Appeals showed a figure of $10,251.35 in the black. Surpluses for the State Ports Authority and State Library were $3,495.76 and $14.01 respectively.

LICENSES—The Department of Public Safety to date has processed a record of 300,000 driver license applications since July 1 last year, Maj. Wayne Hinson, Director, revealed. All applications received up to and including July 21 have been procesesd and are in the mails, Hinson said. Exceptions are a few hundred which were not filled out correctly.

State Rallies In Blood Aid

Georgians yesterday came from a 45-mile radius to join in efforts to save the life of two-year-old Glennett Cook, burn victim whose need for Type O blood transfusions was described in The Atlanta Constitution.

Officials of the Atlanta Red Cross Blood Center credited The Constitution story with being directly responsible for bringing in 24 donors. Charles Temples read the story, jumped into his automobile, and came all the way from Cartersville to make his blood contribution. Fourteen others came from the Atlanta Distribution Depot. Nine other readers came in.

Glennett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Cook, of Homerville, is a patient at Egleston Hospital.

Hundreds of building-minded veterans are watching "Lots for Sale" ads in Constitution Want Ads.

Electric Shock Kills Worker At Hapeville

Carroll F. Groover, 28, of 1013 Juniper St., N. E., was electrocuted yesterday while handing an electric drill to a fellow worker at a building under construction in Hapeville, Chief G. B. Pearson, of the Hapeville Police, reported.

C. G. Sewell, of 827 Peeples St., S. W., who had asked for the drill, said he called to Groover that he needed more cord and looked around to see the man sprawled at the bottom of the ladder, Chief Pearson said. As he pulled the line free from Groover, Sewell related, he saw an electric arc between Groover's arm and a drainboard nearby.

The building under construction at Central and Stewart Avenues was to house a drugstore. The body of Groover was taken to the Brandon Funeral Home in Hapeville after more than 45 minutes of artificial respiration failed.

He is survived by his wife; a son, Donald Groover; his mother, Mrs. Pauline Groover, of Atlanta, and five brothers, Henley, Paul, Ralph, Frank and Eugene Groover, all of Atlanta.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by Brandon Funeral Home.

HAIL, COLUMBUS

Nina Sighted Off Barbados

BRIDGETOWN, Barbados, July 21—(AP)—A movie studio's replica of Christopher Columbus' ship Nina was believed sighted in the Atlantic tonight after having been missing for 24 hours.

A rescue vessel was sent to a spot 25 miles north of Barbados where a craft believed to be the Nina was seen by a plane.

The Nina's builder, Robert Clark, and 19 other persons sailed the Nina out of Holetown last night. They expected to make only a short moonnight cruise to test the Nina's sails.

Gainsborough Pictures, Ltd., a British firm, had the Nina and Santa Maria built for a film on Columbus. Many of the scenes were shot in Barbados and the Dominican Republic.

It has been proposed to sail the two ships up the Eastern United States Coast to the Gulf of St. Lawrence and then across the Atlantic to Britain.

Cross-Country Hop Set for Super Plane

WASHINGTON, July 21—(AP)—The biggest passenger plane in the world will make its first cross-country flight Sunday to the East Coast.

The Navy's Lockheed Constitution with a capacity of 180 persons will fly nonstop from Moffett Field near San Francisco to the Patuxent River Naval Air Station in Maryland, the Navy announced tonight.

Later the huge double-deck transport will be displayed several days next week at the Washington National Airport.

It will make the 2,500-mile flight from the West Coast in about 10 hours, the announcement said, flying at an average speed of 250 miles an hour, 20,000 feet up. The 92-ton craft was first flown in November, 1946, and has been flight-tested more than 250 hours. It has a wing span of 189 feet, is 156 feet long and has a 50-foot tail.

It's a cinch to relieve ATHLETE'S FOOT with NEURABALM!

HERE'S WHAT IT DOES

1—Gives prompt relief from excruciating pain . . . intense itching. 2—Kills all FIVE of the Fungi which usually cause Athlete's Foot on contact. 3—Dissolves the hot, excessive perspiration on which Athlete's Foot Fungi grow and thrive. 4—Promotes healing of raw, cracked, peeling or soggy skin between toes and on the feet.

The reason Neu-ra-balm is so effective in relieving Athlete's Foot is that it gets at the seat of the trouble by killing all FIVE of the common fungi on contact! These highly infectious plant molds and parasites grow and thrive on hot, perspiring feet. So here, too, Neurabalm is effective in helping keep down excessive perspiration. Further, its soothing, analgesic ingredients work FAST to relieve pain and itching.

Helps Guard Against Re-Infection

Treat your feet to a rub with Neurabalm to kill off these fungi and to help prevent a painful and serious case from developing.

We All Hope We on Same Track

By DORIS LOCKERMAN,
Women's News Editor

The six Chinese soldiers touring Mimosa Hall, magnificent home of the Granger Hansells in Roswell, took its priceless Chinese porcelains and exquisitely hand-embroidered screens with considerable restraint, but when their hostess turned her back, they reached out their hands and stroked the treasures from their land.

"These," one of them apologized when he caught Mrs. Hansell's eye, "are only for emperors! We have never touched such things before!"

Such subtle expression of admiration, a caress with a reverent hand, set the atmosphere for a day memorable in Atlanta recently for both the Red Cross and the Hansells.

Kitty Thomson, a devoted volunteer of the Red Cross Motor Service, whipped up an itinerary for the Chinese officers and the Red Cross Field Director at Fort Benning on the spur of the moment, cramming into it the things they had wished to see . . . the Capitol, the zoo, the Cyclorama, Lakewood Amusement Park, an ante-bellum home and two churches.

It was a day of politics, of people at play, of war and the history of a region, a shining fragment of religious conception, and when it was over, Mrs. Thomson and Mrs. Hansell received the usual notes of gratitude.

"We believe," wrote one Chinese, "we on same track."

That belief satisfied everybody involved in the hospitality.

Another seed of world-wide good will had been planted, and the hoped-for harvest would be understanding.

No Maharinis?

A piece of publicity has floated to this desk bearing the tidings that a jeweler in New York has a scheme to make every man a maharajah, and there immediately came to mind the shrouded, sweating human barrels that waddle into the news every now and then, apparently representing glamour by the ton.

But no. Byrd F. Brogan, the maharajah-maker, was only thinking of Eastern turbans and swelling cummerbunds . . . he was thinking of things like star sapphires and star ruby palladium rings on every pudgy male paw in America.

Synthetic jewels, of course . . . for synthetic maharajahs, but even then we don't think it will work. Not unless he throws in the other privileges enjoyed by the mountainous mahouts.

International Problem

Three ordinary housewives are sitting in England with nine ordinary men to iron out problems of clothes rationing in the British Isles. Mrs. Edith Richardson, 54, a London grandmother and office cleaner, who takes in laundry to bolster her coalman husband's income, is rooting for more unrationed soap, and extra coupons for the bride and groom. Mrs. Mary Campbell, 66, a Scottish farm widow and mother of 11 children, will press for extra supplies of wool yarn for sock knitting, larger sizes in women's clothes and cheaper household linens. Mrs. Hettie Last, Lancashire wife with a son of 14, has an eye on fewer coupons for children's togs and a separate ration book for linen and household furnishings.

And all we worry about in America is enough money to buy the same things.

HAIRBREADTH ESCAPES OVER

New, Innocent-Appearing Bomb Routs Insects

Time was when an insecticide bomb cost only a few cents less than the atomic variety and the hazards were greater—for you, not necessarily the insect.

Those were the days when you sent the children out in the yard, bolted all the windows, descended to the basement, holding the instrument of death at a good arm's length, braced it gingerly against the side of the wall, pulled the fuse and bolted for the nearest door, lest the lethal fumes overpower you.

You were the only one inconvenienced by this method. The bugs did nicely, thank you.

Now, because of the new container in which Aerosol Insecticide is packaged, your hairbreadth escapes are over. This deadly (but only to insects) fluid comes in a small round tin, as unsuspecting looking as a can of pork and beans. It's equipped with a highly efficient fingertip valve at the top for spraying on sight—or suspicion—any of the pesky little creatures—roaches, waterbugs, flies, gnats, and your own special variety—that spend their lives making yours miserable.

Two or three thorough sprayings with an Aerosol Bomb, around pantry and kitchen baseboards and windowsills, in bathrooms and front and back porches, will rid your house of most of its buggy occupants, except for a few diehards that crawl out of the crevices at night. These will be only too glad to give up the ghost after they've been completely doused with a direct spray or so of Aerosol.

You'll find these bombs at the corner grocery.—M. G.

NEWS OF THE CLUBS

MISS ANN DRAKE

Miss Ann Drake To Wed Oct. 8

Mr. and Mrs. William Calvin Drake announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Letitia Ann Drake, to William Lloyd Johnson, Jr., of Washington, Ga., and Lake Charles, La. The marriage will be an event of Oct. 8 at the First Baptist Church.

The bride-elect's mother is the former Miss Minnie Lee Burchfield, daughter of Mrs. Lillian Hester Burchfield, of Clemson, S. C., and the late Oscar Hilton Burchfield, of Roanoke, Va. Her paternal grandparents are Mrs. Letitia Ann Hunnicutt Drake, for whom she is named, and the late William Warren Drake, of Atlanta.

Miss Drake graduated from Washington Seminary, where, during her senior year, she was Advertising Manager of the Missemna. She attended Gulf Park Junior College, where she was a member of the Delta Alpha Sigma sorority. She made her debut at the Cotton Ball in Chattanooga in 1946.

Mr. Johnson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Lloyd Johnson, Sr., of Washington, Ga. His mother is the former Miss Sadie Arnold Sims, daughter of the late Mrs. Sally Du Bose Sims and Samuel Redding Sims. His paternal grandparents are the late Mrs. Mamie Smith Johnson and William T. Johnson.

The future bridegroom took a post graduate course at GMA. He graduated in the class of 1943 with a bachelor of science degree in chemical engineering from Georgia Institute of Technology, where he was a member of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers and Phi Eta Sigma honor society. He served three years in the U. S. Naval Reserve, and was discharged with the rank of lieutenant. He resumed his studies at Tech and received his master of science degree in chemical engineering in August, 1947. He is now associated with the Cities Service Refining Corporation in the process engineers department at the Lake Charles, La., office.

SALLY FORTH Says:

Columbia Names Atlantan Belgium Exchange Student

Betty Styron, pretty daughter of the Arthur Styrons, has had thrills galore in her young life, but few are comparable to that she received this week when the postman brought her a letter from the director of music at Columbia University, bearing the news that she has been selected as Columbia's exchange student to Brussels, Belgium, in return for the son of a Belgium Countess.

Doubtless this wonderful honor has come to Betty, who is a coloratura soprano, because of the outstanding record she made while working for her A. B. degree in music at Converse College. Recently, Betty's engagement to Dr. Thomas Newton Guffin, assistant resident in surgery at Knickerbocker Hospital, New York, was announced and the wedding is scheduled to take place at the First Methodist Church on Aug. 27. Knowing this, Columbia's director of music implored Betty, in his letter, not to turn down the offer because of her marriage, for it was quite possible that an appointment in Brussels for Newton might also be arranged.

If Betty does accept, she will reside in the home of Countess Yves d'Oultremont. As the director wrote, "it will add polish to your education to live in the home of nobility."

Dance at Hitching Post Farm

Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Freeman and their daughter, Betty Meriwether Lewis, have issued invitations to a dance on Saturday evening at Hitching Post Farm, their attractive country place near Forsyth.

Honor guests for the affair are Carolyn Alexander and her fiance, Dr. Jack Fleming, and Dr. and Mrs. Charles Hollis.

Atlantans fortunate enough to be included on the guest list are looking forward to the motor trip to the farm and the special brand of hospitality dispensed there, for the Freemans are famed hosts.

Lila Moore Keen Arrives

Atlanta art circles have been enlivened by the arrival here for residence of Lila Moore Keen, whose paintings of camellias and magnolias have evoked praise from artists throughout the country. A native of Dublin, Mrs. Keen will spend several months at the Imperial Hotel.

Dr. H. H. Hume, President of the American Camellia Society, calls Mrs. Keen "the lady who makes flowers real with paint." Her reproductions of camellias and magnolias have been published by a trio of leading New York art publishers, one magnolia original which was lithographed by a New York company having been valued at $1,000. Her work has been exhibited at Constitution Hall and the National Art Gallery in Washington, and also in Georgia and New York.

Mrs. Keen studied art at Agnes Scott, and finished her training under Wayman Adams, of Elizabethtown, N. Y. Though she specializes in magnolias and camellias as typical of her native State, she is also a portrait artist.

"The Stage" Receives Impetus

The Young Martons' Circle for Tallulah Falls School received a tremendous boost recently in an endeavor to promote their Autumn project, "The Stage," which will have an eight-week run at the Atlanta Woman's Club.

Mrs. W. S. Cantrell, President of the College Park Woman's Club, phoned Tommy (Mrs. Fred) Eve, President of the Circle, that members of her organization wished to volunteer their services in aiding the Circle to establish a professional resident theater here, and to that end they would like to begin by assisting in the promotion of "The Stage."

So, with the combined efforts of the Circle members and the College Park Club, the show and the idea should go over with a bang.

WHAT FUR IS FOR

Designers Use Mink and Chinchilla

By MAYNITA GERRY,
Constitution Fashion Editor.

NEW YORK, July 21—A little fur goes a long way this year. Perhaps by expounding a little on this theory, you might find that a lot of fur would go even further.

As for us, we'll stick with the original idea, as does Brownie of Foxbrownie in her Fall and Winter collection of clothes presented yesterday by the New York Dress Institute.

For the first time in nine years this house is presenting fur as a trimming, used with slightly hesitant touches here and there—around the peplum of a jacket, on the pockets, down the front in the form of buttons, in muffs, in ascots and tippets—much more devastating in effect than a whole costume of chinchilla—if you could find it. On a black wool costume suit the flared peplum of the jacket is of black caracul, shown with small fur barrel muff that breaks in the middle and reveals a small pouch for your valuables. While another black suit has huge square pockets of leopard, to match or vice versa, a leopard muff. Still another, a day-into-evening ensemble has a jacket peplum of black seal, whereas yet another black suit has a shawl collar banded in mink. Also included in this collection were the famous foxbrownie "day until day" black, those seemingly simple (but don't let that fool you) little dresses that can be worn from noon through to the next day if necessary. This year she's done them in color as well as black—in colors like tanager red, hemlock and bronze green, bland tabac (a rich, creamy cafe au lait shade), tar brown and navy with a difference. The difference being its combination with black.

Then we were back to fur again—this time from the Joseph Whitehead collection of hostess, tea and evening gowns. His dinner gown of black velvet, tight waisted with a full gathered skirt, had small cap sleeves of ermine. And another black velvet dinner gown, empire style, had long side sleeves with lavish bands of silver fox.

All the houses are making much use of imported laces—French Chantilly and Alencon—and the Whitehead collection is no exception. He uses deep green Alencon lace over an absinthe satin slip in a full skirted evening gown with the lace appliqued on flesh marquisette deep around the neck.

A debutante's dream of a dress is his white net with wide blue taffeta corset waistline and bow, and a stole and circlet of matching blue maribeau. And he also uses maribeau on a navy satin dinner dress, this time a wide band extending from fan-shaped pleats in back straight around the knees in front.

Kiviette makes up for the lack of fur in her current collection by calling one of her pet colors blond mink and uses it in a lace dinner dress over a sheathlike slip of satin. Also included in this collection, in addition to the custom street clothes which Kiviette does so superbly, are a wonderful line of debutante and debutantes' mothers dresses, lovely bouffant or sheathlike gowns made of marquisette lace, brocades, satins and combinations of lace and satin or lace and marquisette, with applique details of the lace strewn on the skirts, worn often with further detailing of rhinestones and bugle beads.

Jo Copeland, of Pattulo, is another exception to the prevalence of fur trimming. She does, however, do a short moleskin jacket dyed to match a ruby wool street dress of worsted jersey with pressed cartridge tucking around the waist, which fosters the full skirted idea below a tiny waist and smooth hips.

Miss Copeland uses much varied draping this year to the side, side back or center back and has done interesting things with what she calls the "windblown" neckline, which can be worn either opened wide or closed and high around the neck.

Fur trimmings, fantail backs, deep cuffs and Quaker capes are the things you'll want to watch for from Nettie Rosenstein. These things and her use of black—so far used more than in any collection we've seen.

On a slim black wool broadcloth suit, she lavishes a deep, wide collar of mink, and on a soft brown suit it's rather startling, but nice to discover gray squirrel cuffs.

The only bridal dress shown so far was from the Joseph Whitehead collection — a fabulous matter of antique brocade with an antique white veil, caught in a banded coronet of seed pearls and rhinestones. But no fur.

Trim Vegetable Plates with this bacon special. It's mighty good and makes the bacon go a long way:

Bacon slices — Bread crumbs
1 egg, slightly beaten — 2 drops of Tabasco

Roll bacon in crumbs. Dip in egg, seasoned with Tabasco. Fry in butter until crisp.

This is delicious with all summer vegetables like string beans, carrot strips, browned onion rings, baby limas and teenie peas. One drop of Tabasco works wonders with them all! Try Tabasco also in breakfast eggs, whether fried, poached or scrambled. And see what wonders a drop or two does for corned beef, pot roast and tossed green salads.

OVER-DRESSED BABIES

DID YOU KNOW THAT AS A RULE every reasonably plump baby needs less clothing than adults? He will be lots happier if he's not overdressed. When your doctor says your baby is ready for pureed foods—get going with Gerber's Strained Foods. Gerber's nutritionists see to it that these flavorful favorites retain vitamins and minerals so essential to growth. Chances are your baby will take to good-tasting Gerber's fruits and vegetables right from the start. Some mothers dilute the puree with a bit of milk, at first. This often helps baby get used to the new consistency of his early spoon-fed foods. Always look for the Gerber baby on the foods babies go for—and doctors approve.

Keep Up The "New Look" . . . that brand new fresh look of your washable white summer togs. No trick at all when you use Clorox in laundering! It's always a gentler bleach, too, because it's free from caustic and other harsh substances. Clorox actually conserves your white household cottons and linens as well as your precious white and color-fast clothes. You'll flounce around in your flounciest white cotton skirt and rhumba-ruffled blouse because they'll always be Clorox-fresh and crisp. Another grand thing about Clorox is that it works faster in killing germs. In short order you can wipe up bathroom and kitchen surfaces and know they'll be safe—and fresh as out-dorps—for Clorox has great disinfecting and deodorizing power. I keep all work surfaces in my test kitchen (chopping boards for instance) sanitary with Clorox. Hundreds of Public Health Departments endorse the Clorox type of disinfection.

NO BRIGHT LIGHTS FOR VERONICA

Former Atlanta Model Credits Success to Work

By KATHERINE BARNWELL

Tall, blonde and willowy Veronica Byrnes, who left Atlanta to climb to the top in New York's modeling world, insists a model's life isn't what the movies lead you to believe.

"It's one percent glamour," she estimates, "and 99 percent work!"

And if you want Veronica's own formula for a successful modeling career, she'll give it to you straight:

"Work, work, work."

Night clubs? Bright lights? The gay life?

"None of that," she avers, "I get up early every morning . . . model all day . . . take a singing lesson at night . . . run through my breathing exercises . . . and go to bed. It's always the same thing. If I were to go out at night, I'd be tired and not fit for modeling or singing."

Veronica, who is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Byrnes, of 5086 Roswell Rd., is a graduate of Sacred Heart School. The first rung on her career ladder was modeling for the fashion page of The Constitution and Atlanta department stores.

Soon after her arrival on Broadway five years ago, she was made a "glorified girl" in Ziegfeld's Follies, which ran two years. She then turned to modeling—and now does most of her work for the top designer, Renel of Paris.

"But singing," she points out, "is my real love. And my ultimate goal is the Metropolitan."

A lyris soprano, she is studying with Maestro Luigi Guiffrida, a protege of Caruso. She hopes soon to be ready for a role in a musical.

Although not averse to marriage, she explains she's "not ready" for it. But the five-foot-eight, 120-pound former Atlanta beauty has no affinity for "handsome men."

"I don't like them," she declares. "There may be an exception, but I haven't met him."

It's Still Good Fun To Replay the Game

NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 21—All morning long, baseball players, umpires and club officials streamed through the lobby of Pete Wood's Noel House, leaving for home after the most successful All-Star game in history.

Small groups would congregate here and there for a final few minutes of replaying Nashville's storybook 4-3 victory over the cream of the league and the general opinion was that it couldn't have been more perfect if a script had been written.

Down deep inside of everybody they wanted to see the Vols win the game as a twenty-fifth anniversary present for Larry Gilbert, one of the league's finest gentlemen. And to make it complete, the gods smiled upon Larry's son, Charlie, and let him have the honor of winning it for his dad with his twelfth-inning homer.

"Yes," said one of the directors, "it undoubtedly was the best game of the All-Star series."

"Why stop there?" asked another. "I'd say it was the best game played in Sulphur Dell all season . . . maybe in history."

Country's Just That Way Manager Al Todd, of the Stars, was talking about Atlanta's "Country" Brown at the party after the game.

There was some discussion going on about Brown's reckless base running in the ninth inning. The situation was this: The Stars were three runs behind with only three outs to go. They loaded the bases off Leo Twardy and Gilbert rushed Lee Mallory to the mound. Brown was on second.

Walt Dropo sent a bounder to short, forcing one man at second, Brown taking third. Boguskie's relay to first trying for the double play got away from Byam, but the ball rolled only some five or six feet away.

However, Brown rounded third, sized up the situation and never hesitated. He was safe a mile. But it was a dangerous thing to do.

"The thing to do," Todd said, "was to play it safe. But Brown isn't that type of player. Nobody could have held him up at third. Although the thing to do was play it safe, fellows like Brown are the kind who win games for you by not doing what the book calls for."

How High Is a Home Run? One of the post-game huddles consisted of Earl Mann, Jasper Donaldson, Paul Florence, Reds' scout, and a couple of newspapermen.

As in all conversations about baseball in Nashville, the talk turned to the Sulphur Dell park and its short fences, high screens and dumps in the outfield.

"Yes," said one of the writers, "if I were to write the sentence in my story that Dropo lined a single over the left fielder's head, fans would think I was nuts. But that is exactly what happened. The ball landed against the dump and quit rolling. It would have been at least a triple in any other park of the league."

"Did you notice the fans' reaction out there tonight? Their standard for judging a hit is not how hard the ball is hit but how high. The higher the pop, the louder they yell."

Good ol' Sulphur Dell. Oh, well, at least it gives the writers something to gripe about.

The Dump Is Tough Vince Rizzo, the New Orleans general manager, told a funny story about George Stumpf, the Pels' center fielder last year, and Sulphur Dell.

"George was no Spring chicken," Vince said, "and his legs had been giving him a lot of trouble. We were playing in Nashville and the Vols had been chasing George up and down that dump all afternoon with base hits and long fly balls.

"I guess he must have run up that thing 12 or 14 times.

"Finally, in the late innings, he could stand it no longer. After charging up the hill after a double, George jerked off his glove and sailed it over the fence and out of the park. 'I've had enough,' he said, 'I quit.' And he walked off the field.

"The fellows on our bench were laughing so hard, it was hard for his replacement to warm up."

Barnes Wins Two Matches

Kile Bows In 19-Hole Thriller

By BERT PRATHER

Tall, easy-going Will Crossley, who zoomed into national prominence last year when he won the National Publinx tournament while a member of the Atlanta team, blasted his way into the round of 16 of the current tournament at North Fulton yesterday when he disposed of Frank Michalek, Baltimore, 3-2, in a morning round and Michael Szwedko, Sharpsburg, Pa., 5-4, in the afternoon.

Playing under a sweltering sun, Crossley, who now plays out of Brooklyn, N. Y., turned in a 37 on the morning round to lead Michalek, 1-up. He took the tenth and fifteenth to push his advantage to three and then halved 16 with a five to close out the match.

CONSOLATION TOURNEY

Clinton Sublett, of Louisville, Ky., won the National Publinx 18-hole medal play consolation tournament at Adams Park yesterday, scoring three-under-par 69. Paul Wohlford, Milwaukee, Wisc., was second with 70. Oliver Sleepy, Los Angeles, and Ted Lach, Newcastle, Pa., tied for third with 71. Wrist watches were presented to Sublett and Wohlford. Forty-seven competed.

In his fourth round tussle with Mike Szwedko, Crossley shot his best golf of the tournament thus far. He was right on the card all the way to turn back the highly-regarded Pennsylvanian shortly after a big gallery had picked up the twosome at the turn.

Two Atlantans were sidelined in third-round skirmishing when James (Chub) Kile, short knocking but deadly putting favorite of the gallery, succumbed to Collegian Bill Wryan, of Minneapolis, on the nineteenth hole, and young Henry Wade, of the City Champion Roosevelt High squad, bowed out to Louis North, of Denver, 2-1.

The Kile-Wryan match was really a thriller. Two down and two to go, Kile got down an 18-foot putt for a birdie to win 17 and then duplicated it again on the home green to force the battle into extra holes. On the nineteenth Wryan, a member of the University of Minnesota golf team, slapped in a birdie to clinch the match.

Charlie Barnes, a veteran of seven of these tournaments and Atlanta's No. 1 entry, survived a gruelling third-round battle with Alvin Gustafson, of Spokane, to triumph one-up. Both shot 37 on the first nine. Barnes captured the first and third holes, while Gustafson won four and five.

On the backside, they battled stroke for stroke through the thirteenth, but on the 165-yard fourteenth, the Spokane star barged into the front with a par-three as Barnes missed the green and needed three to get down. Fifteen was halved, but Barnes pulled even with a par-four for a win on 16. Another par was good for a win on 17. Barnes protected his one-hole margin with another easy four on the eighteenth.

Charlie encountered more difficulty in his afternoon match with Hillman Robbins, of Memphis, but managed to win the last two holes for a 2-up victory.

Both Barnes and Robbins fired four over par 39's to make the turn all square. Barnes, now Atlanta's lone remaining hope for the title, is scheduled to play John Pasikowski, of Sharpsburg, Pa., in one of today's feature fifth-round matches starting at 9:42 a. m.

A pair of the hottest players in the tournament, crosshander Aubrey Turrentine, Raleigh, N. C., and Ben Hughes, Portland, Ore., will be paired against each other this morning.

Turrentine, who putts left-handed and hits all other shots in orthodox fashion, beat Byron Gerdes, 4-2, in a morning round and then brushed aside Joe Belton, of Daytona, 4-3.

Hughes, who smokes big cigars continuously, bumped Sadaji Kinoshita, of Honolulu, 5-4, and Clyde McEntire, of Noblesville, Ind., 2-1.

They are definitely of championship class and seemed to have solved the tough par 71 North Fulton course to their satisfaction.

Crossley's fifth-round opponent this morning will be Ralph Schneider, of Shaker Heights, Ohio. Schneider bested John Foley, Seattle, and John Nowack, Cleveland, to gain his spot in the fifth round. He is a tough competitor and may give the defending champ trouble.

A real sleeper is Mike Ferentz, Long Beach, Cal. Mike made the pro circuit (as an amateur) and has played in several National Amateurs. He is current Southern California Publinx king. Ferentz won both his matches yesterday handily and will be favored in his match with young Lido Landi, of Sharp Park, Cal., today.

Landi is 21 and is a clerk in his father's grocery when he is not on

Georgia Backs' Coach Father of Baby Boy

ATHENS, July 21—Backfield Coach Bill Hartman, of the Georgia Bulldogs, this afternoon became the father of an 8-pound-9½-ounce boy. He was born at St. Mary's Hospital. Mrs. Hartman was reported doing fine.

The Bulldog coach said they had not decided on a name for the newcomer but that it probably would "be another Bill."

Walker Allows One Hit

Fortified Hills' baseball team defeated Sharon Baptist, 21 to 4, yesterday at Grove Park. Dinny Walker was credited with a one-hitter.

Harridge Gets Facts in Dispute

CHICAGO, July 21—(AP)—President Will Harridge of the American Legion League expects to settle the Umpire Bill McGowan-Washington Senator dispute without leaving his office.

McGowan was suspended yesterday on a complaint by Washington manager, Joe Kuhel, that McGowan cursed and threw a baseball at a Washington player in a game with Cleveland Monday night.

"All facts of the case are on Mr. Harridge's desk," but he hasn't decided whether he will call in any players or umpires involved in the row, said Earl Hilligan, director of the league's public service bureau.

McGowan, 52, is in his 24th year as an American League umpire. Kuhel charged the threw a ball and strike indicator at pitcher Rae Scarborough in a game last Thursday night.

Dodgers Win Double Bill; Yanks, Tribe Split Header

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Brooklyn Dodgers continued their torrid pace in the National League pennant race yesterday, sweeping a double-header from the Chicago Cubs at Chicago, 9-3 and 7-1, to strengthen their grip on second place.

Since Burt Shotton took over from Leo Durocher, the Dodgers have won seven games and lost only one.

Big Ralph Branca breezed to his twelfth victory in the first game, scattering eight hits, while his mates clubbed three Chicago pitchers for 16.

Dutch McCall held the Dodgers hitless for five innings in the second game but the Brooks, with the aid of two errors, broke his spell by scoring four runs in the sixth.

Sparked by Jim Hegan's slam home run in the eighth inning, the league-leading Cleveland Indians came from behind and beat the New York Yankees, 12-8, at New York after the Yanks had won the opener of the double-header, 7-3. The attendance was 67,133.

Trailing 8-4 going into the seventh inning, the Indians scored three runs on Lou Boudreau's double and singles by Joe Gordon, Ed Robinson, Hal Peck and Dale Mitchell to set the stage for their big eighth inning.

Allie Clark singled to start the five-run rally. A walk and Ken Keltner's single knocked in the tying run and sent Relief Pitcher Joe Page to the showers. Karl Drews took over and walked pinch-hitter Wally Judnich to load the bases. Hegan followed with a homer into the left field stands. Russ Christopher, fourth Cleveland pitcher, was the winner.

In the opener, the Yanks supported the six-hit pitching of Lefty Ed Lopat with a 12-hit attack that included homers by Joe DiMaggio, Billy Johnson, Cliff Mapes and Phil Rizzutto. The victory was Lopat's seventh straight and ninth of the season. Boudreau drove in all Cleveland runs with a homer and fly ball.

Joe Dobson won his twelfth victory against six defeats as the Red Sox stretched their win streak to five games with a 3-1 success over the Chicago White Sox at Boston. It was the first game of an afternoon-night double-header.

Only one of the six hits off Dobson went for extra bases—Tony Lupien's double.

In Washington, Walter Masterson was slammed for 12 hits as Washington defeated the Detroit Tigers, 6-1.

Johnny Blatnik's triple and Eddie Miller's single in the top half of the 10th gave the Philadelphia Phillies the run they needed to whip the Pittsburgh Pirates, 3-2, at Philadelphia.

U. S. Olympic Team Arrives In England

LONDON, July 21—(AP)—The American Olympic team bussed into camp today, coming up by bus from Southampton, where the athletes arrived on the liner America.

Before lunch they moved into their slick living quarters at Uxbridge, an RAF station 20 miles west of London.

The women athletes went in separate busses to their billets at Wimbledon, the famous tennis center. The rowers and yachtsmen came on to London by train, after the members of the University of California's "Big Eight" tenderly superintended the debarking of their fragile shell at the dock.

At Uxbridge, Dean Cromwell, head coach of the track and field team, dispatched his kids to the track to run off their sea legs. The rest of the coaches issued no orders. In consequence, Uxbridge presented the aspect of a mass siesta.

Cromwell pronounced an early verdict on the Uxbridge village. "Really grand," he beamed.

He put no pressure on his lads, but most of them were out on the camp's training ground—the RAF's athletic field.

BILL KENNEDY OR LINDQUIST TO FACE CHICKS

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 21 The Atlanta Crackers open a three-game series with the Memphis Chicks here tonight with either Bill Kennedy or Carl Lindquist slated to be the starter on the mound for the Atlantans.

Kennedy has won 10 and lost nine, while Lindquist has won four and lost 12.

The Crackers next face the Little Rock Travelers in a five-game series that ends their present road trip. They return to Atlanta to open another series with the Chicks on July 30.

Phillies Vote Suspension

PITTSBURGH, July 21—(AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies today passed a resolution recommending that any player who fails to report for the All-Star game, unless injured, be suspended two weeks without pay.

The meeting of the Phillies was said to be one of a series to be held by all of the major league clubs to consider the matter.

The Philadelphia Inquirer said the Pittsburgh Pirates previously voted the same penalty as recommended by the Phillies.

Lakewood Wins 3d Legion Tilt As Post One Eliminates Barons

By JESSE OUTLAR

Lanky Bill Darden throttled the Gate City Cardinals, defending State Legion champions from Post 72, on five hits and received almost flawless support from his mates as the surprising Lakewood Redbirds annexed their third straight triumph, 9-1, yesterday in the Fifth District American Legion Junior Tournament at Glenn Field.

The Post One Owls eliminated the DeKalb Barons, 14-2, in a wild marathon which started the five-hour baseball program. Right-hander David Hartsfield turned in a nifty pitching job for the Owls, while Charlie Waller's Barons employed four hurlers who served up 13 free passes, erasing any chance they might have had of remaining in the running.

Moving into the semifinal round today, the Gate City crew will take on Post One at 3 p. m. Today's loser will join Hapeville and DeKalb on the sidelines, and the winner will battle undefeated Lakewood in the title tussle.

In the first game yesterday, Waller started LeRoy Harper, but the big right-hander didn't retire a batter. After walking Bill Driskell and Hartsfield, Harper hit Conn and gave way to Arben Moreland, a determined young fellow who served up a two-run single to Ralph Smith, but escaped without further damage until the fourth. He was nicked for one in that frame and then yielded another tally in the sixth.

Moreland was routed during a five-run fifth, Maddox taking over to pitch to one man before yielding to Willie Willis, who moved in from third to toss a five-run eighth.

Meanwhile, Hartsfield, although touched for 10 safeties, one less than Post One garnered off the Baron foursome, blanked DeKalb until the fourth, when Claude Young's single, an infield out and Bill Livsey's one-baser broke the ice. Successive singles by Lawrence Thompson, Jenkins and Young plus an error produced the other Baron score in the fifth.

Second Baseman Sonny Conn punched in three runs with a double and single to pace the Owls' attack.

In the afterpiece, a smooth bunting Lakewood band handed Gate City's Joe Willingham a heart-breaking defeat. The clever Redbirds, parlaying bunts and Willingham's wildness, rushed over four runs in the fourth without stroking the ball out of infield territory. Not until Ray Guyton dumped a single to center in the fifth did Lakewood get a hit. That blow was also the first activity for the Card outfielders.

Thereafter, the Cards came apart at the seams, committing five miscues, while Willingham and his successor, Ed Webster, who came on in the fifth, authored 11 passes and four hits.

Webster retired Lakewood on three quick strikeouts in the eighth to give Gate City supporters something to shout about.

On the other hand, Big Bill Darden was mowing the Cards down and receiving perfect support most of the way. He walked only three and fanned seven, missing a shutout when Gate City scored in the fourth.

Suggs To Make Debut as Pro

HIGHLANDS, N. C. July 21—(AP)—Louise Suggs, 24-year-old Georgian, will make her debut as a professional golfer here Sunday.

The recently crowned British Woman's champion will play in a foursome with Bobby Jones, the grand slam champ; Dorothy Kirby, top-ranking Atlanta amateur, and Dick Garlington, Atlanta. The four will play a benefit match for the Highlands Community Hospital fund.

Miss Suggs signed a professional contract July 8. She broke into prominence by winning the Southern Women's Championship in 1941. Since then she has won the North and South at Pinehurst, the Western Amateur Open, and the Women's National. She was a member of the Curtis Cup team that won in England this Spring.

PUBLINX

the Sharp Park municipal golf course. He won both matches yesterday without being extended.

Two rounds will be played today which will cut the field to the semifinals by nightfall.

Both semifinal matches Friday will be over the 36-hole route as will the finals Saturday.

Publinx Notes

The Hawaiian players, Charles Makaiwa and Sadaji Kinoshita, were greeted at the first tee yesterday by a home-towner, Miss Libby Delos Santos, who hails from Waikaii Beach. . . . She is a childhood friend of Makaiwa. . . . Incidentally, Makaiwa has scored the most decisive victories in the tournament. He won his second-round match Tuesday, 8-7, and in the third round yesterday morning he scored a surprisingly easy victory over personable Jim Kennedy, San Francisco, 7-6. . . . Lido Landi, who works in his father's grocery store in San Francisco, has had to travel extra holes in his first three matches. In his first and second starts he won on the 20th. Yesterday morning he closed out Edwin Bohardt, Dayton, on the first extra hole.

Wilfred Crossley was the only former king still remaining in the running after the third round. . . . Robert Clark, St. Paul, the 1940 champ, went out Tuesday. . . . Yesterday Andy Szwedko, Sharpsburg, Pa., who won the title in 1939, lost to Mike Ferentz, a bartender from Long Beach, Cal., 2-1. . . . Kinoshita was blasted from the tournament by stumpy Ben Hughes in the third round, 5-4. Hughes, who hails from Seattle, was a semifinalist at Minneapolis last year.

Quite a bit of talk was going the rounds about Wilfred Crossley's birdie four on No. 10 in his match with Michalek—the ball hung on the lip of the cup for about three minutes and then when the players decided that the putt should be conceded, the ball suddenly fell into the hole. . . . Michalek contends that he already had conceded the putt to Crossley when they started walking to the ball and that he should have had a five instead of a four. . . . There was no formal request for a ruling at the time so it stands as a birdie for Crossley.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Busy Bus Driver To Manage Team

Condensed from AP, UP and INS

John Hillman, of the Fall River, Mass., club in the Class D New England League is about the most energetic, man in baseball. Before Manager Frank Zubik resigned, Hillman was bus driver, trainer, assistant grounds keeper and put in a stint at relief slab work. Owner Joe Madowsky, probably thinking Zubik needed more duties, named him acting manager.

Here and There—Charley Trippi will complete work today on his first movie in which he stars with Paul Christman, Sammy Baugh and Bob Waterfield and will fly to the Chicago Cardinals Wisconsin training camp.

Bill Ayers, former Cracker hurler; Jim Bagby, Atlanta boy now the ace of the Indianapolis staff and former Southern Leaguers, Les Fleming and Pat McGlothin, are good bets to make the American Association All-Star team.

Sir Malcolm, Campbell, British speed king, will know Monday if an operation to restore his fading sight is successful. . . . Writers give First-Baseman Ferris Fain a lot of credit when discussing reasons for the Philadelphia Athletics' amazing success.

Gus Lesnevich's manager, Joe Vella, commenting on the proposed Louis-Lesnevich scrap, says, "me and Gus are both ready to fight Joe—if he can be lured into the ring again." . . . Babe Ruth plans to make occasional appearances at benefit games for the Babe Ruth Foundation, Inc., which helps deserving youngsters.

Injured Citation Out, Papa Redbird Is Victor

CHICAGO, July 21—(AP)—Papa Redbird, at odds of 23½ to 1, jolted 20,163 racing fans with the second of two shocks at Arlington Park today.

Papa Redbird galloped to an upset victory at those juicy odds in the $28,000 Dick Welles Stake. This happened after the Calumet Farm's famed Citation produced the first shock by failing to start in the mile gallop due to a pulled leg muscle.

Calumet, however, raced its great filly, Bewitch, and Whirl Blast, a son of Whirlaway. But the best Bewitch could do was to finish third, while Whirl Blast, ridden by Jockey Eddie Arcaro, snatched fourth place. Second place went to Shy Guy, owned by Detroit's Dixiana Stable.

Papa Redbird, chestnut 3-year-old son of Balladier-Taj Bibi, ran a remarkable race, stepping the mile in 1:35 2-5, only a second slower than Equipoise's world record.

Papa Redbird stunned the spectators by paying $49.20 to win, $21.20 to place and $6.20 to show.

Bewitch finished two and a quarter lengths behind Shy Guy.

Papa Redbird's margin over Shy Guy was only a head.

Citation was preparing to go after his twentieth victory in the twenty-second start of his career, when he pulled a hip muscle in a workout.

"The injury isn't serious," said Trainer Jimmy Jones, "but we thought it best to ease up on him for a couple of days. Citation should be ready to go in the Classic Stakes July 31."

CONLEY WATER STUDY—Residents of Forest Park and Orchard Knob may get water from the Atlanta waterworks after all. Paul Weir, Waterworks Manager, said yesterday Army engineers have agreed that the City may sell water from the two Army-owned mains feeding Conley if certain conditions are met. The government built the two seven-mile-long mains to Conley during the war and from 500 to 1,000 residents of the Forest Park and Orchard Knob communities have asked they be supplied water. The City can not sell water through the mains without an agreement with Army officials. Weir said he will take the proposal from the Army engineers to Council's Water Committee meeting next Wednesday. It provides for a guaranteed volume and pressure for Conley and a nominal rental or its equivalent. Weir said he and his engineering experts are studying it to ascertain if the City can meet the requirements.

90,000 PRODUCE STAND—Permit for construction of a $90,000 two-story produce and fruit storage structure at 1071 Allene Ave., S. W., was issued yesterday by City Building Inspector Marvin Harper. It will be built for the Fidelity Fruit & Produce Company, adjoining the State Farmers' Market.

AIRPORT PROJECT READY—Jack Gray, Manager of the Municipal Airport, yesterday said preliminary grubbing for construction of two new runways at the air terminal will begin today by the MacDougald Construction Company, contractors. The undertaking will cost $1,185,000 and will be completed sometime next Summer.

SLUM STUDY—Members of the Atlanta Council of Church Women yesterday praised the City's slum clearance program after conferring with officials in charge, but urged some plan be evolved to assist persons, evicted to allow physical renovation of properties, in finding other living quarters. Headed by Mrs. W. B. Suddeth, President of the group, the women said some families are finding it difficult to locate other living quarters when they lose their old quarters.

MAYOR'S DAY—Mayor Hartsfield yesterday signed contracts for construction of a $141,182 combination auditorium-cafeteria for the Slaton School and conferred with Liaison Engineer Garland Steele and Land Agent Harry Andrews over right-of-way acquisitions on the North-South expressway. They agreed to cooperate where possible in salvaging any houses by permitting them to be moved to nearby lots. Hartsfield said this would not accentuate the housing shortage. The Mayor also handled a heavy mail and held several conferences with citizens who called at the office.

STARS AND BARS FLY—The Confederate flag will fly at Five Points today in commemoration of the 84th anniversary of the Battle of Atlanta. Mayor Hartsfield has ordered the flag flown from the pole. It will be raised this morning and will be the only one on the pole, followin ga 10-year-old custom established by Hartsfield when he first became Mayor. During war years, it was flown beneath the American flag but when the war ended the old custom of flying it solo became operative again.

PARISIAN STUFF

'High' To Give Sidewalk Show

"Strugglin' artists" at the High Museum of Art, alias the school's Summer students, will present their first sidewalk exhibit and demonstration at Hurt Park all day today.

Patterned after the famed sidewalk shows of Paris and New York, the exhibit will be "something different," the artists say, from anything ever held in Atlanta. It will include on-the-spot demonstrations in watercolor and oil techniques.

Admission is free and the public is invited.

A Large Problem With Small Beginning

THURSDAY, JULY 22, 1948

Suggestion of the Day: The U. S. Forest Service, with office in the Glenn Building, in Atlanta, has some splendid bulletins on the care of forests. They are available to the public. W. R. Hine will discuss the matter with you, and meet your needs.

EROSION FOLLOWS PATHS

It is the little watersheds that cause lots of damage. C. L. Veatch of the Soil Conservation Service, who has been working for some years on the watersheds above the Allatoona Dam, stated recently that the small watersheds do five times as much damage as the large ones. We are finding this to be true.

Recently we have been observing the Dog Branch watershed which doesn't amount to more than 1,500 acres all together and have been getting our ducks in a row to hold it against flooding when all at once it dawns on us that one of the little streams flowing into DOG BRANCH is doing a tremendous amount of damage. What I am trying to say is that even the VERY small streams need to be tied down.

If there is any doubt in anyone's mind about the need to control the various watersheds, let him note what happens to a mere pathway leading down from some hill to the lower lands. We have our hills covered up in kudzu and sericea and yet where the cattle have worn a thin three-foot path from the hills to the branch, there is erosion just as though the rest of the hills were not covered up.

And so it is with the roads that lead from the hills to the lowlands. The farmer can't have all of his roads built on the contour and the result is that the roads erode exactly like the farm land acts when not covered up.

The thing to do is begin with the very tiniest of watersheds and work downward to the larger ones.

And the best part of it is that many of these areas can be conserved by just a modicum of effort. It is when the waters get downstream that they are hard to subdue.

Well, it's laying by time and the loafing season is here. Loaf with us at 6 a. m. and 12:45 p. m. It's a pleasant habit. WCON.

Until then,

Kid Gavilan Bout On WCON Tonight

By RITA VAN PELT

Fight fans will be glad to know the weekly boxing bouts in Madison Square Garden are being resumed tonight at 10 when Kid Gavilan, Cuban welterweight hopeful, meets the veteran Brooklyn fighter, Roman Alvarez, in a scheduled 10-round battle. Gavilan, making his fourth appearance in a Garden main event, has attracted favorable attention of ring experts and is being groomed for an early chance at "Sugar" Ray Robinson's welter title.

In Alvarez, however, the Cuban whirlwind will be meeting a cagey boxer and formidable opponent. The blow-by-blow description of the bout will be aired over WCON-ABC from 10 to conclusion, Don Dunphy and Bill Corum handling the ringside mikes.

The more timid souls who prefer their punches in "punch lines" may tune their dials to the "Hallmark Playhouse" (WGST, 10 p. m.), where the story of a doctor's courageous struggle to gain healthier working conditions for miners will be told in A. J. Cronin's "The Citadel"—a deeply stirring drama.

As a matter of fact, this evening's radio clock promises chills the weather man failed to predict.

. . . WCON's mystery lineup includes a number of popular thrillers. Front Page, featuring Dick Powell, at 8 p. m.; Criminal Casebook at 8:30 offering authentic dramatized case histories from the files of the Society for the Prevention of Crime; Gangbusters at 9 p. m., featuring Stacy Harris, versatile and convincing dramatic actor; and at 9:30 Famous Jury Trials which tonight relates the story of a college baseball crime.

Stacy Harris

The Chesterfield Supper Club brings to the air a rising young singer, Leo de Lion, this p. m. at 7 via WSB-NBC, when he will give his special touch to "Old Man River." Sammy Kaye's orchestra will be on hand to accompany the Kaydets in "You Call Everybody Darling."

Dr. Gallup will again "Chart the Convention" . . . this time the Third Party . . . 7:45 p. m. over WCON.

$80,000 Sought By Plane Victim

Three suits filed against the Federal Government Wednesday ask $80,000 for damages caused when an Army trainer plane, flown by Ralph W. Barnwell, of Atlanta, a reserve pilot, crashed into a house on Gilbert Rd. on April 27, 1948, killing two Negro children and injuring another.

Barnwell bailed out when the plane gave out of gasoline.

One suit, filed by J. H. Gilbert, asks $5,000 to restore the house and shrubbery.

One filed by Willie Evans Smith, six, through his mother, Eva J. Smith, asks $25,000 for damages and injuries caused when the pilotless plane crashed into the house.

The third suit, filed by Eva J. Smith, asks $25,000 for each of her two sons, Marcus J. Smith, four, and Cornelius Smith, two, who were killed.

Police Blotter

FIRE—A fire from an overheated motor in the air-conditioning unit of Police Radio Station WPDY atop the police headquarters building caused slight damage last night, Capt. W. M. Weaver said. The radio did not go off the air. Firemen answering the call entered through the lieutenant's office and passed through the cell blocks to the roof.

LOST DIAMOND — Martin M. Goldstein, of 435 Tenth St., N. E., lost a diamond setting valued at $550 from a ring recently, he told police yesterday. He said the stone either was lost in moving to his present address from 317 Boulevard, N. E., or in a laundry at 469 Ponce de Leon Ave., N. E.

CLOTHING FOUND — Patrolmen J. W. Anderson and R. W. Boyd yesterday reported finding a huge bag of clothing abandoned in front of 376 Gartrell St., S. E. They said the bag contained mostly women's wearing apparel with several pairs of men's trousers and shoes.

Tech Middies Enjoy Hawaii

Georgia Tech midshipmen training aboard the cruiser, Astoria, are combining pleasure with their Navy studies during a 10-day stay in Hawaii.

Dances and other forms of recreation awaited the embryon officers at eParl Harbor following eight days of drills and wartime exercises at sea.

Liberty now being enjoyed in Hawaii wil be interspersed by hours of shore establishments and submarine indoctrination training. The midshipmen will put out to sea July 30 for San Diego. Gun drills and amphibious training await them off San Clemente Island after their arrival Aug. 7.

2 More Hotels Called Unsafe By Inspector

City Bldg. Inspt. Marvin Harper yesterday cited two more hotels to show cause why their operating permits should not be revoked because they failed to qualify with the City's fire safety ordinances.

Harper asked the Police Department to cite owners of the Edison Hotel, 450 West Peachtree St., and the Luckie Hotel, 180 Luckie St., because they had not presented an acceptable plan for making their structures fire safe.

As a result, the Police Committee may hear the charges at its meeting next Wednesday.

Harper previously had notified operators of the hotels he would ask action looking towards revocation of the operating permits unless his office was satisfied that contracts had been let by the close of business yesterday. He said he had been given no such assurance and had requested the citations.

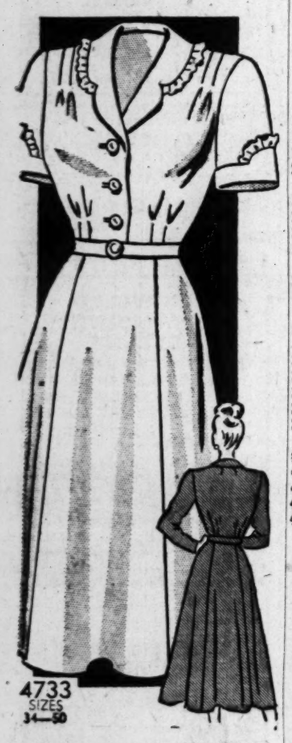
Today's Pattern

By LILLIAN MAE



You will look slimmer! Every line of Pattern 4733 is cleverly designed to pay you compliments! A new scalloped collar with cuffs to match gives this the perfect finish.

This pattern, easy to use, simple to sew, is tested for fit. Includes complete illustrated instructions.

Pattern 4733 comes in sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 48, 50 Size 36 takes 4⅛ yards 39-inch.

Send 25 cents in coins for this pattern to The Atlanta Constitution, Pattern Dept., P. O. Box 133, Station O, New York 11, N. Y. Print name, address, zone, size, style number.

Look lovelier! Look slimmer! Look for more flatterers, easy to fit, easy to sew, in our Lillian Mae Summer Pattern Book. Ideas to double your wardrobe, halve your budget. Fifteen cents more brings you this fascinating catalog plus a free pattern printed in the book—a sun-tan halter with built-in bra.

Dublin Finances

DUBLIN, July 21—Income of Dublin for June exceeded the outgo substantially, it was reported by Robert Wilson, city clerk, who said receipts totaled $66,175.80, while expenditures to $23,954.01. The city advalorem tax accounted for the largest portion of the income in the sum of $56,184.71, Wilson said. Parking meters' take was $1,637 and other sources of income were fines, beer tax, special license taxes, water department, etc.
